

Third Term? Question for Faubus, 6th

An AP Special Report By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—A few years ago the idea of a third-term governor seemed preposterous in Arkansas, which had a 50-year tradition of "two terms and out."

Now Gov. Orval E. Faubus, a mountaineer whose name once was a symbol of resistance to school desegregation, talks like a man who will seek a sixth term. He says he will announce his plans next month.

His decision apparently will hinge on a private poll, a device he uses frequently to sound public opinion.

Sensing possible public distaste for desegregation, Faubus used National Guard troops to block integration of Central High School in Little Rock in 1957. Arkansas responded by breaking its third-term tradition and gave him 70 per cent of the vote in the 1958 Democratic primary. In Arkansas, the primary usually decides the governor's race.

Now he has held the office nine years and the hard core of his opposition is weary from fruitless battles to oust him in 1960 and 1962. His foes are wondering not so much about whether he will run as where a worthy opponent can be found.

So far only State Rep. Hardy Croxton of Rogers, a proponent of government reform, has demonstrated a desire to oppose Faubus.

But the names of former Gov. Sid McMath and former U.S. Rep. Dale Alford, two of his five opponents in 1962, are mentioned often enough to make Faubus take critical stabs at them.

Two years ago Faubus himself appeared weary. A hard and losing fight for a $60 million state construction bond issue was just behind him. He had feuded for years with the powerful Arkansas Education Association. A losing battle for a school closing constitutional amendment had followed his fourth term success in 1960.

Faubus, saying he wanted to write, announced in a dramatic television appearance that he was retiring from politics.

A week later reports circulated that he was having second thoughts.

Couple of Arkansas Boys Complete Long Trip to Chicago to See Mother

CHICAGO (AP)—A 16-year-old boy, his left leg in a cast, and his young cousin arrived in Chicago last night after hitchhiking more than 700 miles in four days from their home in Southwestern Arkansas.

The two teen-age boys got some kindly help along the way to Chicago to visit the ailing mother of one of the young Arkansas travelers.

Sheriff's police in Springfield, Ill., after giving them lodging and meals, put them on a bus for the last leg of their journey, a trip of about 200 miles.

James Jerry Leslie, who suffered a broken leg for the second time in 16 months last October, limped off the bus with his cousin, Hubert Thompson, 15. They had $4.55 of the $10 they had when they left their home in Fulton, Ark., last Sunday to visit Leslie's widowed mother, Mrs. Jack Leslie, who is hospitalized with tuberculosis.

The youths said they received 16 rides, including a long hop from Poplar Bluff, Mo., to St. Louis, with a father and four sons. He put them up in a motel Monday night and bought them two meals to augment their diet of soft drinks and potato chips.

Frank Pickett, chief investigator for the Sangamon County sheriff's police in Springfield, picked up the two youths Tuesday night. But after he verified their mission with Arkansas authorities he fed them and housed them in the juvenile section of the city police station.

Pickett obtained bus tickets Wednesday for the boys to complete the journey.

The boys went to the home of their grandfather, Jack Leslie and hope to visit Leslie's mother in the Municipal Sanitarium. Young Leslie had lived with his parents in Chicago until seven years ago when his father was killed by a train. Both Leslie and Thompson live with a grandmother in Fulton.

Dear Fellow of the Fourth Estate: I am well gratified by your opposition to erecting a new post office in your city, and hope a great number of editors throughout the nation will take a similar stand.

Now that both our gold and silver have been demonetized and we have only international bankers' due-bills to use in lieu of money; now that we have so much bureaucratic socialism in our government that said bureaucrats have assumed the legislative and financial prerogatives of Congress provided in the Constitution; and the dictatorial powers assumed by the Executive and Judicial branches of government; and when public funds are squandered to buy votes and create "a national image" of a prodigal and inept Santa Claus aboard; the dollar devalued; inflation burgeoning; and the tax burden increasing in arithmetical progression it is comforting to find one now and then who has not entirely lost the sterling value of thrift.

I entered newspaper work in 1892 when most of us realized the value of thrift as a means of survival. Lucky were those then who at year's-end could claim a net balance of a hundred or two dollars above necessary expenditures. We knew what it was to retrench and carefully husband our incomes.

Without further devaluing the dollar and diminishing its purchasing power we could not now pay our debt—national, state, and local—and without speedy retrenchment national bankruptcy is inevitable, and we will have lost our heritage from our patriotic forebearers.

Negro Held in Wheel-Cap Theft

Charles McGill, 17, Negro, was arrested by city police Wednesday night and charged with petty larceny—just as he was leaving a parked car in the McCorkle service station on West Third St.

Police said he had stolen two spinner-type front wheel-caps from the automobile. McGill is charged with petty larceny. The arrest was made by Officers Martin and Milam.

Hope Fades for Airmen in Pacific

HONOLULU (AP)—Hope faded today for the survival of nine men lost on a missing Air Force transport plane. Their fate remained a mystery as a massive search drew toward a close.

The Air Force and Navy had been involved since last Thursday in what they called the greatest search effort ever in the Pacific.

Sixty-nine aircraft and three Navy ships scanned 600,000 square miles of ocean between Hawaii and Wake Island without finding any trace of the big C124 plane or its eight Air Force crewmen and a Navy passenger, who was escorting the body of another Navy man home.

The search was down to 11 planes and three ships today. The missing plane was on a flight from Japan to Hawaii via Wake Island.

Barry Urges Real Stand by GOP

By WALTER R. MEARS
NASHUA, N.H. (AP)—Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater appealed today to voters "who are tired of not having true Republican representation when the polls come around" to back his bid for the GOP presidential nomination.

At a coffee hour, Goldwater said that will be his theme in his campaign in New Hampshire's March 10 primary.

Launching a day-long tour of southern New Hampshire, Goldwater greeted the kitchen help in his Concord motel after breakfast. Then set out for Nashua.

The senator, who faces New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller in the primary, said "We're much closer, the liberals and the conservatives in the Democratic party."

Answering questions, he said, "We again, gouted," in selling surplus wheat to the Soviet Union.

"Why give the enemy every break?" he asked.

Goldwater said earlier he was surprised and encouraged by his reception.

Inspection of Cars May Return Here

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Roads and Highways Committee of the Legislative Council will undertake next Thursday a study of the feasibility of requiring periodic motor vehicle inspection in Arkansas.

The study was proposed by Rep. Bill Tucker of Hot Spring County and the committee will hear any person or group interested in periodic inspection.

The committee also will look into various proposals on driver registration and will discuss a proposal by Rep. Raymond Mays of Cleveland County for a study of the possibility of financing State Police from general revenues.

The State Police Department, now financed principally by the drivers' license fee, has been in financial difficulty for several years.

Sen. Merle Peterson of Dumas will present a proposal for a comparison of Arkansas' driver registration laws with those of other states. Arkansas is one of the few states which issues drivers' licenses annually and which does not maintain a central records office for traffic violations which are recorded on licenses.

The committee also will discuss a proposal by Rep. Glenn Walter of Pulaski County for a study of the feasibility of setting up a Department of Public Safety which would include the State Police, driver examination and licensing, a central records system and other devices designed to promote driver safety.

Space Grant Is Given to University

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP)—The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has awarded the University of Arkansas a grant of $48,000 a year for the next three years under which eight graduate students may complete work on their doctoral degrees.

The applicants must have an interest in space sciences, but they will not be required to take government jobs or even space-related jobs after receiving their degrees.

Each student receives a basic traineeship stipend of $2,400 a year plus tuition and other necessary expenses and allowances for dependents.

"The objections of the program will be best served if they engage in research and teaching in science or engineering following completion of their training," said Dean V. W. Adkinson university coordinator on research.

Eight students already are studying on similar grants awarded last year.

In Prohi Days, Dandelions in Your Yard Meant You Were Making Wine — Boyle

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Nostalgia is man's favorite medicine for what ails him. It cures his blues.

Everyone likes to look back, even the child who delights in asking his parents, "Tell me again about when I was just a little baby."

The great virtue of memory is that it softens the past, bandages many of its bruises, and makes it seem a less complex period than the busy present.

You've seen a lot of water flow under the bridge yourself if you can pause now and remember when—

Practically every home held a picture of the national hero—Gen. John J. (Blackjack) Pershing, U.S. commander in France during World War I.

Most country clubs were kept solvent by a battery of slot machines in the recreation room.

Schoolboys wore long black stockings that usually had a hole in the knee.

You could learn the chronology of your ancestors by reading the dates of their births and deaths in an old and massive family Bible.

More young lads were tempted to chew tobacco at an early age than to smoke cigarettes, because big league baseball players traditionally were "chawers."

There were more flop-eared mules in America than automobiles—and more horses than either.

During Prohibition days, if a man let dandelions grow in his yard, the neighbors were sure he was using them to make wine.

You could make the average child happy by giving him a penny to buy himself a "jaw-breaker."

If you got a cinder in your eye, you didn't go to a doctor. You went to a druggist, who would gladly take it out for free.

A whole generation of Americans grew up hating orange juice because it reminded them of castor oil, the taste of which it was supposed to camouflage.

Only people who had taken science in college knew what a calorie was—or cared.

Airman's Medal Is Given Prescott Girl's Husband

SEMBACH AFB, GERMANY — STAFF SERGEANT James S. Madnick (left) of Bell Gardens, Calif., receives the certificate accompanying the United States Air Force Airman's Medal.

Sergeant Madnick, a fire protection training supervisor, received the medal for his heroic action in saving the life of a young German boy at a near-by lake last summer. With complete disregard for his own safety, the sergeant swam 100 yards to rescue the unconscious youth.

The sergeant, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Madnick of 6907 Darwell St., Bell Gardens, is a former student at Bell Gardens High School. His wife, Mary, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of 305 W. Gee St., Prescott, Ark. Making the presentation is Colonel Roger W. Page, base commander.

Mrs. Allen Files for Senate Post

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Mrs. Dorothy Allen of Brinkley, widow of the late state Sen. Tom Allen, filed Wednesday as a candidate for her late husband's position.

Dr. John Miller of Brinkley filed last week for the same post—position 2 in the 26th District. Lester Graves, a Stuttgart businessman, says he will seek the job, too.

Allen died last October and his wife succeeded him as publisher of the Brinkley Citizen and the Monroe County Sun at Clarendon, weekly newspapers. She is 53.

The district includes Lee, Arkansas, Phillips and Monroe counties.

Cold Front Is Pushing Into State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front pushing into Arkansas brought light snow to the northwest section today and was expected to drop temperatures to the low 20s throughout the state tonight.

Snow was reported at Fayetteville and Harrison. Walnut Ridge had rain.

The cold weather followed warm period that brought in to south Arkansas and rains to warm period that brought hail to south Arkansas and rains to most of the remainder of the state Wednesday.

Highs Wednesday were in the upper 50s and low 60s.

The Weather Bureau said skies will clear as colder weather hits the state tonight.

But the five-day forecast predicts possible snow this weekend.

Hailstones ranging in size from marbles to golf balls battered El Dorado Wednesday. No injuries were reported and there was no estimate of damage. Streets were covered with hailstones and pedestrians ran for cover. A heavy rain, measured at 1.13 inches, accompanied the hail.

Between 150 and 200 panes of glass in a greenhouse were broken by hail north of El Dorado.

Will Push Rockefeller as Governor

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP)—A Pine Bluff man is trying to mass enough Southeast Arkansas Republican support to persuade Winthrop Rockefeller to run for governor.

E. G. Basinger of Pine Bluff placed an advertisement in the Pine Bluff Commercial Wednesday asking persons to write or phone him if they would "like to see Winthrop Rockefeller in the next governor's race."

Basinger said he was campaigning for Rockefeller "strictly on my own." He said he had tried personally for several years to get Rockefeller to run.

"The thing I think it will take to get Win to run is to get a sampling of the type of support we (Republican supporters) can get for him," Basinger said. "If there's enough support, we might talk him into it."

He said he thought Rockefeller would have a good chance "whether (Gov. Orval E.) Faubus runs or not."

Basinger said South Arkansas has been the state Republican Party's weak area in the past but that the organization now is strong throughout the state.

Basinger was campaign manager for Warren Lieblong of Pine Bluff in 1962 when Lieblong ran unsuccessfully against Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., for Congress.

A coroner's inquest was set for Friday.

Harris Lauds State of the Union Speech

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., termed President Lyndon B. Johnson's State of the Union message Wednesday, "the best since the old Roosevelt days."

And the remainder of the Arkansas Congressional delegation had high praise for the speech. The only member not commenting on it was Sen. J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., who is on vacation.

Harris said, "It was a good speech generally. I reserve judgment on some things, but overall it was very good."

Rep. Wilbur Mills of Kensett said, "I was pleased that it was possible for him to develop a budget that carries out the content of exercising a tight rein on spending, which we have said all along is an integral part of any tax reduction."

Sen. John L. McClellan said he heartily approved of Johnson's pledge to reduce spending. "If he is able to achieve all these desired goals... that he outlined and actually reduce federal expenditure... it would be miraculous and also emphasize the inefficiency and extravagance of past administrations," he said.

Rep. E. C. Gathings of West Memphis said he thought the President's time table for Congress "is a little too optimistic."

And Rep. James W. Trimble of Berryville said, "I thought it was a very comprehensive speech. It poses many problems for us. I will give his proposals careful consideration and I hope I have the wisdom and courage to do what is best for our country."

Man Killed in Fight at Marvell

HELENA, Ark. (AP)—Billy Crawford, 25, of Marvell, was fatally shot Tuesday night at a farm home 15 miles southwest of Helena.

Deputy Sheriff Frank Lawhon said Pete Garcia, who lived in the house, was being held but was not charged.

Lawhon said Crawford and Raymond Russell, also of Marvell, pursued a Negro woman to the house and that Garcia fired a shotgun through the door, killing Crawford.

Lawhon said a pistol was taken from Crawford's clothing at a hospital.

Russell also was held without charge.

A coroner's inquest was set for Friday.

Succession Major Issue for America

NEW YORK (AP)—Former Presidents Dwight D. Eisenhower and Harry S. Truman disagree over whether an elected or an appointed official should be next in line for the presidency after a vice president succeeds to the office.

The two men, along with former Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., discussed the complexities of presidential succession in a series of filmed interviews, televised Wednesday night by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Eisenhower said that when a vice president succeeds to the office of president on the latter's death, the next in line for the top job should be the secretary of state, an appointed official.

"This was the system until 1947 when the law was changed with the backing of men President Truman."

Under the change, still in effect, next in line of succession after the vice president is the speaker of the house, followed by the president pro-tem of the senate, both elected officials.

Truman said he did not believe that any president should have the right to appoint his successor, as he would have if the secretary of state was second in line. He said he thought the successor should be a man who holds an elective office.

Truman said an even better method would be to have the Electoral College fill the job of vice president after the latter succeeds to the presidency.

Nixon agreed. He said the vice president who becomes president should be authorized to convene the Electoral College within 30 days to fill the vacancy.

Both Nixon and Eisenhower disagreed with a proposal by Keating that two vice presidents be elected at four-year intervals. Nixon said that would downgrade the office.

Showdown Is Nearing on Medicare

By EDMOND LEBRETON
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, who appealed strongly for enactment of a Social Security health care plan for the aged, can have at least a showdown committee vote this year.

But, although Johnson talked up the proposal at five different points in his first State of the Union message Wednesday, there was no sign today that he had significantly reduced the odds against passage in 1964.

Chairman Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark., of the House Ways and Means Committee—where the administration bill and its predecessors have been stuck for years—said he intends to bring it to a vote at this session.

It seemed certain that after two vacancies on the committee are filled, that powerful group will still be divided 14 to 11 against the measure.

The chances of passage of some health plan for the aged this year appear to depend on the possibility of devising a compromise Mills might accept and back. No such compromise is now in sight.

There are parliamentary ways of bringing the measure to a House vote without favorable action by the Ways and Means Committee, but the practical chance of passage by such a maneuver is close to zero.

Mills' committee will resume on Jan. 20 the health care hearings suspended when President John F. Kennedy was assassinated.

Report to Outside

HOPE, Ark. (AP)—The Hope Board of City Directors drew editorial fire Wednesday from Alex Washburn, publisher of the Hope Star, for adopting a resolution favoring construction of a proposed $500,000 post office and federal building.

"This interference with a survey by the politicians of city hall is outrageous," Washburn said in an editorial.

Washburn's paper is editorially opposed to the construction of the post office and federal building, maintaining that Hope's present structure is sufficient.

The publisher said the action of the city directors would not affect circulation of petitions asking that the federal government drop the project.

Mayor Frank Douglas said the resolution was adopted Monday night and forwarded to Rep. Oren Harris, D-Ark., congressman for the district in which Hope is located.

Washburn said about 30 petitions are being circulated and there has been no tabulation of the signers. The petitions will be sent to Harris, too, Washburn said.

Faubus Is to Meet the President

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said he will go to Washington next Monday to confer with President Johnson in a meeting arranged by a member of the Arkansas congressional delegation.

Faubus said he had nothing particular to present to Johnson and he knows of nothing about which the President might want to talk with him.

Apparently they will discuss Democratic party politics.

Faubus said he was not sure whether he would meet with Johnson Monday or Tuesday since the meeting was being arranged in Washington.

Faubus did not plan the trip especially to meet the President. He plans to confer with the Arkansas congressional delegation and federal officials on implementation of various federal programs in Arkansas.

Faubus said he was specifically concerned with new pre-schools, mental retardation, facilities for the mentally ill and welfare programs.

He said he also would meet with interior Department officials to discuss the possibility of acquiring right-of-way for a road through the White River Wildlife Refuge in Southeast Arkansas.

Gospel Is Papal Word in Israel

VATICAN CITY (AP)—At his first public audience here since his return from the Holy Land, Pope Paul VI said today his pilgrimage showed him how valuable it was to go back to the gospel as a source of faith.

The 66-year-old Roman Catholic ruler spoke to several thousand persons in the Clementine Hall of the Apostolic Palace.

He seemed refreshed and still enthusiastic over his trip, the first to the Holy Land by a pope of Rome.

Pope Paul then said true Christians must go back to the "sources of their faith, their religion. The return to the gospel must be our continuous exercise of thought, of spiritual fervor, of moral renewal, or religious and human sensibility."

"This return does not demand a true and proper trip to the holy places of the Lord's life. It demands instead an increasingly more attentive and affectionate knowledge of His manifestations to the world."

The right-of-way is needed, he said, in connection with an effort to build a road between Snow Lake and the Pendleton Ferry. Snow Lake is a Desha County community which is cut off from the rest of the county by the Arkansas and White River.

State Sen. Merle Peterson of Dumas and Sheriff Robert Moore of Desha County will accompany him to Washington to discuss this matter, Faubus said.

Also accompanying the governor will be J. L. Bland, administrator of the state Employment Security Division and William J. Smith, the governor's legal advisor.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Arkansas got a brief respite today from winter cold, but the warmer weather and a cloud over is expected to bring rain tonight and Thursday.

The U.S. Weather Bureau said skies will start clearing early Thursday and cooler weather will follow.

If the forecast holds, the precipitation would be the state's first general rain of the year.

Minimum temperatures today were mostly in the 30s and 40s, contrasted to overnight lows down to nine degrees at Gilbert and in the teens and 20s elsewhere Tuesday.

Maximums mostly in the mid 50s Tuesday were to be repeated today.

The five-day outlook calls for temperatures five to 10 degrees below normal with precipitation totaling around one inch or more in rain at the beginning of the period and rain or snow over the weekend. Normal highs are 43 to 54 and normal lows 24 to 35.

Third Term?

thoughts. A month later he announced for a fifth term and he polled 51 per cent of the first primary votes to escape a runoff election for the fourth time. Now Faubus does not talk of retirement. The state government has run smoothly for the last year. He has settled his dispute with the education. An expanding economy is bringing in revenue faster than it is being spent.

Faubus has talked, for the first time since 1958, of what he will do if he is re-elected. His main platform, he said, will be a rural road construction program.

His last promise was negative—that he would fight school integration. He kept his word by closing Little Rock schools during the 1958-59 term and by proposing the school closing amendment through the legislature.

By 1960 he had all but dropped integration as a campaign topic and he ignored it in 1962. Both years he campaigned mainly on government efficiency and economic advancement of the state.

Both issues and candidates may develop on the road to the August Democratic primary. And even if Faubus gets past the primary he could face his first real general election test if Republicans can persuade Winthrop Rockefeller to run.

Rockefeller has been a potential GOP candidate since 1960, but observers believe he will wait to challenge someone less experienced than Faubus.

How does a controversial governor return to office election after election?

Working for Faubus are: 1. His personal charm; 2. His claim of an administrative record without scandal; 3. Continued economic expansion allowing broader state services without a tax increase; and, 4. An excellent political organization.

But Faubus' main strength may lie in his ability to turn the past election's enemy into next election's friend.

McMath's old organization helped Faubus win his first race in 1954, but he quickly broke with McMath. He said McMath tried to dictate to him.

He campaigned as a racial moderate in 1956 and beat an ardent segregationist.

In 1958 he was the segregationists' champion but Atty. Gen. Bruce Bennett in 1960 and Alford in 1962 were the staunchest segregationists in the governor's race.

Recently an Alford lieutenant of 1962 was given a well-paying state position because, Faubus explained, "He needed a job." It was one of many times Faubus has found a place for the politically wounded.

For Faubus, above all, works from day to day as a practical politician. Converted enemies mean votes.

Mrs. Oswald Planning to Write Book

DALLAS (AP)—Mrs. Marina Oswald plans to write a book about her life in Russia and her marriage with Lee Harvey Oswald, the Dallas Morning News said today.

The widow, 22, whose business manager said Wednesday had accepted as a fact that her husband assassinated President John F. Kennedy, would get professional help in writing the book, the newspaper said.

It said a Grand Prairie lawyer, John M. Thorne, was to discuss the projected book with an executive from a major publishing company.

The Russian-speaking Marina has "picked up considerable English, enough to talk with you conversationally, but not enough to do a book," Thorne was quoted as saying.

Wednesday, Mrs. Oswald's business adviser, James H. Martin, said Oswald's erratic behavior made it easier for his widow to accept the evidence which police say proves he shot Kennedy.

Martin said Oswald had changed since returning to the United States from Russia, where he and Marina married. "He became more moody, more unhappy," Martin said.

Mrs. Oswald and her two young daughters remain under Secret Service guard somewhere in the Dallas-Fort Worth area, but are reportedly free to move about.

Earlier, Mrs. Oswald told friends she hoped to stay here and get a job. In Russia, she worked as a pharmacist when she met Oswald.

An immigration spokesman said Wednesday she would have to live in the United States five years before being eligible for citizenship.

news from Washington: POLITE NO: President Johnson has turned down politely a French hint that he meet President Charles de Gaulle of France at the Caribbean island of Martinique, it was reported Wednesday night.

Paris was told that Johnson's duties bar him from leaving the United States in the month ahead, informed sources said.

BASE CLOSED: The Air Force has announced that it will shut down another of its overseas bases — this one in Spain.

It was disclosed Wednesday it is closing one of its three bomber bases in Spain by July 1 and that about 3,500 military personnel and 4,500 of their dependents will be brought home.

The B47 medium jet bombers will be moved from the Zaragoza base, which will be put on a standby basis, to the two other Spanish bases, Mron and Torrejon.

RAIL DECISION: Four operating unions have lost another round in their long bout with railroads over the elimination of jobs.

A federal court upheld Wednesday a special arbitration panel's ruling that would lead eventually to the wiping out of 90 per cent of the firemen's jobs on diesel freight and yard service.

should you pamper a Princess?

Depends on which princess—the teenager or the telephone. All teenage princesses—so we're told—glory in a little pampering.

But the Princess® telephone is so well made and trouble free that no pampering is required. Just dust it occasionally or wipe it with a damp cloth.

That, plus a little care in handling, is all the attention any phone needs. And phones almost never need repair—but if something does go on the blink, we'll fix it promptly at no extra charge.

We think it's our job to keep right on improving your telephone service and making it of greater personal value to you.

Rain, Snow Blanketing the East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rain, rain mixed with snow and snow hit broad areas in the eastern two-thirds of the nation today and colder air from the west spread east and southward from the Rockies.

A storm centered in the lower Mississippi Valley spread moist air from the Gulf inland, causing heavy rain in the southeastern quarter of the nation. Amounts ranged from more than one to three inches in parts of the rain belt.

Light snow and rain mixed with snow splashed across wide sections of the Midwest. The cold air, which dropped temperatures below zero in parts of Colorado, Wyoming, Idaho, and the Dakotas, headed eastward across the upper Great Lakes and the northern half of the Mississippi Valley.

Snow of four to six inches was indicated in parts of Michigan, with light snow and rain in most of the eastern third of the nation.

Randy won the title by staying awake for 264 hours at a San Diego naval hospital as

Crippler Ills Attacked by Dime March

"The March of Dimes is doing more than any other private organization has ever done to fight two of the nation's greatest cripplers — birth defects and arthritis."

"That's the reason I accepted the chairmanship of the 1964 March of Dimes campaign in Hempstead County and that's the reason I believe it deserves the support of all citizens," said Mrs. Laura Impson today.

"Anyone who doesn't believe these health problems are important should look at the figures," declared Laura.

More than 250,000 of our babies are born each year with significant birth defects, many causing permanent disability. "We estimate that 2,900 babies will be born defective in Arkansas this year. The March of Dimes is fighting birth defects, the biggest child health problem in America today. Funds you provide help support the scientists who are working to prevent these 'accidents of nature.' A nationwide network of March of Dimes Treatment Centers is providing comprehensive care for patients who already have birth defects. That is why we are asking you to join the March of Dimes."

"I am sure that this figure will shock you as much as it did me. It certainly points out the importance of fighting this terrible crippling of children," said Laura.

The March of Dimes is also leading the battle against arthritis on the research front. The same kind of research program that developed the Salk and Sabin polio vaccines is now supporting many of the world's leading scientists to the extend of 4 million dollars as they search for possible means of prevention. "The American people have come to expect success from the March of Dimes," said Mrs. Impson. "Their continued support this month will make possible even greater victories over disease and disability."

"Budgetary savings of about $50 million in fiscal year 1965 will result," Seaborg said. "A total of about 2,900 contractor positions will be affected."

Approximately 2,500 of the total jobs affected will be at the Hanford and Savannah plants, with the remainder apparently in the uranium processing plants.

'Know DAR' Program Is Held Here

"Know Your DAR" was the subject of the program which Mrs. Dick Watkins brought to the luncheon meeting of the John Cain Chapter, DAR, on Wednesday at the Heritage House.

The origin of the DAR, its aims and purposes, and the historical principals for which it stands were outlined by the speaker. "The DAR is a patriotic organization rather than a social one," she said. "Sometimes its actions are not understood or accepted when they are first brought forth, but the passage of time usually clarifies the wisdom of them."

Mrs. George Peck, Regent, and Mrs. Charles Haynes, acting chaplain, conducted the opening ritual, and the annual reports were heard. The 56th annual Conference of the Arkansas State Society will be held February 20-24 in Jonesboro, and delegates named for it were Mrs. George Peck, Regent; Mrs. Otis Blackwood, Vice-Regent; Mrs. Roy Stephenson, secretary; and Mrs. Paul Klipsch, treasurer. 50 Million Saving in Uranium Cut

By ELTON C. FAY

WASHINGTON (AP) — The administration calculates that its cutback in production of nuclear weapon raw material will save about $50 million in the next fiscal year, more later — and eventually end several thousand jobs.

The cutback was announced Wednesday by President Johnson in his State of the Union message and explained to newsmen later by Chairman Glenn T. Seaborg of the Atomic Energy Commission.

Other highly placed officials discussed the strategic and political implications of the announced 25 per cent reduction in the output of enriched uranium and the closing of four plutonium plants. They said stocks of U.S. nuclear weapons had increased 50 per cent in the past three years, making the uranium cutback possible.

Seaborg said four of the AEC's 14 plutonium producing reactors will be shut down — three at the Hanford, Wash., plant and one at the Savannah River plant near Aiken, S.C.

Three of the nine plutonium reactors at Hanford and one of the five at Savannah River will be closed down.

At the gaseous diffusion plants at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and Portsmouth, Ohio, production of enriched uranium will be trimmed back by about 25 per cent.

"Budgetary savings of about $50 million in fiscal year 1965 will result," Seaborg said. "A total of about 2,900 contractor positions will be affected."

Approximately 2,500 of the total jobs affected will be at the Hanford and Savannah plants, with the remainder apparently in the uranium processing plants.

Says Johnson Outliberals All of Them

By WALTER R. MEARS

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, courting Republicans in the nation's first primary state, says President Johnson "outliberalized every liberal since 1932" in his State of the Union message to Congress.

"I didn't think he could do it but he did," said Goldwater, campaigning in New Hampshire for the Republican presidential nomination.

Today, Goldwater completes Jud Martindale, Mrs. Richards Howard, and Mrs. Arthur Wimmel.

Mrs. L. K. Persons was named as a delegate to the Continental Congress to be held in April in Washington, D.C., and Mrs. Richards Howard was chosen as her alternate. The John Cain Chapter welcomed Mrs. Ray Turner as a new member at this meeting.

Hostesses for the luncheon were Mrs. J. G. Martindale, Mrs. J. M. Houston, Mrs. Wilbur Jones, and Mrs. Charles Locke.

the opening stint of what he says will be at least a 19-day campaign for the state's March 10 presidential primary. He starts the third day of this campaign trip with a morning news conference, and has promised a detailed statement on Johnson's message.

After listening to part of the speech while parked on a snowy road in Amherst, Goldwater said:

"I would say that he's suddenly become all things to all people. It was my impression that he out-Roosevelted Roosevelt, out-Kennedied Kennedy and even made Truman look like some kind of piker."

Goldwater said Johnson wants the government to move into almost every field of American life, and added that he is running for president to put a stop to that.

Goldwater took his conservative crusade into living rooms, church halls and into a school gymnasium Wednesday.

At the coffee hour sessions he stressed this theme: "The Republican party is the one that offers the home for conservatives, and I want to offer whatever leadership I can."

Crowds at homes on normally quiet streets in Nashua, Milford, Amherst and Manchester spilled into snow covered yards.

Goldwater made his major speech of the current tour Wednesday night before more than 1,500 at St. Anselm's College in Manchester.

In his prepared text—which he largely discarded—he charged the Johnson administration "in order to placate the Soviets, obviously is pushing for a neutralized Europe."

Goldwater also said most Americans would like to see Cuba invaded to topple Fidel Castro, but he said economic and political pressure can do the trick. Goldwater added that if the late President John F. Kennedy had kept the 1962 blockade in force "for another few days" Castro would have been finished.

Ice-Skating Records to Fall Soon

By LEE MEADE

CLEVELAND (AP) — Two ancient hexes were in danger of being shattered today as the 1964 National Figure Skating Championships and Olympic trials got under way at the Cleveland Skating Club.

No man has won the senior men's singles title without first holding the junior crown.

Only one lady west of Philadelphia has been able to capture the senior ladies' singles title.

Threatening to end the first hex is 14-year-old Scott Eklund Allen, from Smoke Rise, N.J., who already has represented the United States in two world meets. Scott is making his third bid for the senior men's singles title with tradition against him.

Allen has been runner-up in national figure skating events four times without winning a title.

Since junior competition was started in 1918, no skater has been able to take the senior men's singles title without first winning the national junior men's championship.

Allen was beaten by former three-time champion Monty Hoyt of Denver as a novice in 1959, a junior in 1961 and a senior in 1962. He was second to defending champion Tommy Litz of Hershey, Pa., in 1963.

Three cities—Boston, New York and Philadelphia—have almost completely monopolized the senior ladies' singles titles.

Barbara Ann Roles of Temple City, Calif., became the first girl west of Philadelphia to win the crown in 1962 and she and a trio of Western rivals—Christine Haigler of Colorado Springs, Myra Bodek of Oak Park, Mich., and Peggy Fleming of Pasadena, Calif.—hope to repeat the feat.

Mrs. Roles, bronze medalist for the U.S. in the 1960 Winter Olympics, retired from competition in 1961 and 1963 but is attempting a second comeback.

Big Question Is Removal of K. C. A's

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — There are those who think Charles O. Finley doesn't have a chance even to reach first base, let alone steal home with a whole baseball team.

But the 45-year-old Chicago insurance executive still insists he is moving his Kansas City Athletics to Louisville, where he has signed a conditional two-year contract with the state of Kentucky.

He needs eight votes to approve the shift when the 10 American League club owners, or their representatives, meet with league President Joe Cronin in New York next Thursday.

The session is called to mediate Finley's stadium lease dispute with Kansas City.

Various surveys indicate Finley may get only one vote of approval—his own.

Arthur C. Allen, president of the Chicago White Sox, thinks Finley will be dispossessed of his franchise.

"By signing a contract with the state of Kentucky, he has committed a breach of trust with Kansas City, and Joe Cronin would be within his rights in picking up the Kansas City franchise to be operated by the league until a new owner takes over," Allen told the Chicago Sun-Times.

But Finley, whose latest move is to telegraph punches with Cronin, is so confident that his move will be approved "after he owners have had an opportunity to analyze the true facts" he says he is going to go ahead with plans for Louisville.

"We'll wear bluegrass green and Ford Knox golf uniforms," he says. "And we'll be called either the Louisville Athletics or the Louisville Sluggers."

Meanwhile, Cronin directed Finley by telegram Wednesday to refrain from making any further arrangements for transferring the club. Finley sent a hotly-worded reply back to the league president in Boston.

Several hours after these exchanges, the Kentucky legislature, in joint resolution by the General Assembly, requested Cronin, the league's directors and members "to give their serious and studied consideration to the advantages inherent in the relocation of the Athletics to Louisville to the end that is assured."

Illinois Is Fair-Haired Gridiron Lad

By HUGH FULLERTON Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer
From nowhere to the Rose Bowl championship in two seasons—that was the story of the Illinois football team that made the Comeback of the Year in 1963.

Just two years ago the Illini had just about hit the bottom in Big Ten football. They lost nine straight games and their prospects of improvement looked dim. In 1962 they won two and lost seven but finished eighth in the Big Ten standings.

In September of 1963, Illinois promised to have a better team but even Coach Pete Elliott didn't expect to do much better than break even. He figured the comparatively inexperienced Illini were a year or two away from being title contenders in their tough conference. But the boys surprised him by winning seven games, losing one and tying one to win the Big Ten title and the trip to the Rose Bowl, where they beat Washington 17-7 New Year's Day.

That feat was picked as the Comeback of the Year by sports writers and broadcasters voting in the annual Associated Press year-end poll. It was a close contest with four individual athletes and two other teams that made notable 1963 comebacks standing high in the voting.

The Illini drew 29 votes for first place, 29 for second and 20 for third out of 145 ballots and a total of 174 points on a 3-2-1 scoring basis. Second with 124 points was Sandy Koufax, the strong Los Angeles Dodgers southpaw, who recovered from an injury-plagued season and pitched the Dodgers to the world baseball championship. Third with 115 was Julius Boros, who won his second U.S. Open Golf Championship 11 years after winning his first.

Other top contenders for comeback honors included the Oakland Raiders of the American Football League with 94 points, Dick Stuart of the Boston Red Sox with 74, the baseball Dodgers 65 and Jim Martin of the football Baltimore Colts 54.

Furman Has 2nd Brother as a Star

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
Furman's Selvy of the Sixties isn't Frank but he's earnest.

David Selvy, who has stumbled more than once while trying to follow the footsteps of his brother Frank, hit the high point of his career Wednesday night with a 25-point effort that carried Furman to a 74-63 Southern Conference basketball victory over Richmond.

Ten years ago, Furman's Frank Selvy was a month away from his 100-point output against Newberry, one giant step in the most fantastic single season ever recorded in major college annals. When the entries all were posted, Selvy had scored 1,209 points for a 41.7 average.

Three years ago, David Selvy came to Furman. The temptation was to label him "another Frank." He wasn't.

He scored only 71 points in 16 games as a sophomore—Frank scored more in three quarters—then was held out of action last season by Coach Lyles Alley. And going into the game against Richmond, David had only a 13-point average this season.

But the 6-foot-2 junior had that Selvy touch against the Spiders. Richmond led 51-42 when David took over. He sank seven of eight shots from the field, put the Paladins ahead to stay 58-57 with four minutes remaining and wound up with 16 points in a torrid eight-minute stretch.

While Furman was winning its fifth game against nine losses, DePaul remained one of the country's three major unbeaten teams along with UCLA and Davidson. The Blue Demons won their 10th straight and continued their bid for national ranking by whipping Notre Dame 86-73.

Third-ranked Loyola of Chicago got 25 points from Les Hunter and 24 from Ron Miller in a 96-80 victory over Marquette, and 10th-ranked Duke tightened its hold on first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference race by edging Clemson 81-75.

Rich Katstra equalled his season's output of 25 points as he led Virginia to a 66-53 triumph over North Carolina State. Rick Barry scored 35 points in Miami of Florida's 97-92 decision over Jacksonville and Georgia Tech downed South Carolina 87-73.

In other games, Navy crushed Long Island U. 93-57, Louisville defeated Kentucky Wesleyan 72-63, Colgate overwhelmed Florida Southern 117-85, LaSalle walloped Lafayette 100-86, Miami of Ohio belted Kent State 85-68 and Temple edged St. John's, N.Y. 62-57.

Don't Bother 'em While Fishing

KALISPELL, Mont. (AP) — James Stroudbeck and Tom Jones of Kalispell didn't let a mishap interfere with their ice fishing.

Shortly after they dropped lines Wednesday on Duck Lake their pickup truck broke through the ice and sank into 11 feet of water. The men continued fishing.

Both hooked their limit of good-sized trout.

Payroll Hike Profitable in Baseball

By LEW FERGUSON
Associated Press Sports Writer
MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Ask any businessman where a 43 per cent hike in the salaries he pays to his employees would put him financially and chances are he'll tell you it would put him on the poor farm.

Not so the Minnesota Twins boss, Calvin Griffith. He's seen his ball players' salaries shoot up that much in the past four years, and few businesses are on more firm financial ground than the Minnesota Twins Baseball Club Inc. of Bloomington, Minn.

Griffith's player payroll has risen from around $350,000 annually, when the club was moved here from Washington after the 1960 season, to about $500,000 for 1964.

The reason, Griffith says, is that the Twins "have got a lot more star ball players than we had in Washington."

It's the price the club is paying for success, both on the field and at the box office. The stars draw the fans, and the attendance is putting more money into the business than ever before in Twin-Senator history.

The Twins' payroll will remain substantially the same this year as last because three veteran players who commanded high salaries have been released. They are Vic Wertz, Wally Post and Ray Moore.

The payroll won't drop any because the savings on the release of the trio will be taken up by increases to such stars as Harmon Killebrew, Earl Battey, Camillo Pascual, Dick Stigman, Albie Versalles, Bob Allison, Jimmy Hall and others.

Of the last, Killebrew, Pascual and Allison are not yet signed.

Rice, A&M Chalk Up Victories

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Rice fought from behind to a 61-60 victory over Texas Tech and Texas A&M easily defeated Texas Christian 91-64 Tuesday night to stay in a tie for first place in the Southwest Conference basketball race.

Arkansas surprised Texas 58-53 and Southern Methodist defeated Baylor 85-65 in the night's other games. Both Arkansas and SMU won their first conference games and their fourth games of the season.

Rice and Texas A&M are now 2-0 in league play. Texas and Texas Tech dropped into a four way tie with SMU and Arkansas second place with 1-1 records. Baylor and TCU are 0-2.

Barry Rodriguez was the star of Rice's come-back victory over Texas Tech. With 24 seconds left in the game and Rice trailing by one point he drove down the free throw lane and flipped in a layup shot to make the score 61-60. Tech got the ball, Tom Patty's hurried shot missed, and Rodriguez took the rebound as the game ended.

Arkansas trailed Texas until only 1:57 remained in the game. Even then the outcome was in doubt until the Razorbacks' Orval Cook sank two free throws in the final seconds. Warren Vogel of Arkansas and Joe Fisher of Texas were high scorers with 17 points each.

Benny Lenox, one of the highest scorers in the conference, led Texas A&M to the victory over TCU. Lenox played only 28 minutes and scored 27 points.

Gary Turner and Bobby McKinley were high scorers for TCU with 15 points each. A couple of Aggie sophomores, John Beasley and Tim Timmerman,

Lakers' Win Marred by Big Fight

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A torrid brawl three minutes before game's end highlighted National Basketball Association action Wednesday night as the Los Angeles Lakers walloped the New York Knicks 136-118.

The fourth period began with the Knicks' Billy McGill and Jim Krebs of the Lakers jostling one another. A fight nearly followed but teammates intervened.

As the Laker lead grew longer, tempers grew shorter. Krebs and McGill resumed their shoving match and then switched to throwing punches.

Players from both benches spilled onto the court and fights broke out all over the floor. For nearly six minutes, referees frantically blew whistles and police called for reinforcements while the fans watched with delight.

A looping right hand by the Knicks' Tom Hoover crashed on to Laker Don Nelson's mouth. The wound needed three stitches to mend it.

Finally, officers restored order, players returned to their benches, and four ejected players—Lakers' Nelson and Krebs, Knicks' Hoover and McGill—tramped dejectedly to the showers.

Before the explosion, Jerry West poured in 39 and Elgin Baylor 36 to lead the Lakers to their fifth straight win and their sixth consecutive victory over the New Yorkers.

In two other games on the Wednesday night schedule the Baltimore Bullets snapped a four-game losing streak with a 106-99 victory over the Detroit Pistons and the Philadelphia 76ers.

Big Gene Elmore scored 23 points in leading SMU to victory over Baylor. Baylor's Winston Moore led the Bears with 20 points although he accumulated four fouls well before half-time and fouled out with 9½ minutes to play.

Story Book on Sports Is Really True

By KEN JACKSON
SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—For a dramatic climax to a sports script, would you:

Have the injured hero throw off his foot cast and then set a mile record in the state high school meet?

Have the injured hero throw determination and year-around dedication to training, overcome lack of size and speed to set cross country records?

Have the young hero come unheralded to the big city and win his first indoor two-mile race by a dramatic margin, setting a national record?

All of these are real life chapters in the still developing story of Gerry Lindgren, 17, 5-foot-6, 115-pound runner, who might be described as the unlikely looking athlete.

Out of track uniform, Lindgren appears a fugitive from school library—thin neck holding a boyish face high above an oversized collar, high pitched voice, ears that one expert suggested taping back to reduce wind resistance.

But when he starts pumping his lithe body around a track, chuckles turn to cheers.

At the San Francisco Examiner Holiday Invitational Meet Dec. 27, Lindgren was named outstanding athlete after his nearly incredible clocking of nine minutes flat for two miles in his first race on boards. For perspective, this was 29.8 seconds better than the recognized high school two-mile record set earlier in the year. And he was forced to go wide on many turns and jockey for position as he lapped the entire field.

Lindgren also has a 4:12.9 clocking in the mile, compared with the recognized prep mark of 4:08.6, and has been practically without competition in cross country.

"We still don't know what his ideal distance is," said Tracy Walters, Lindgren's track coach at Rogers High School here.

"But I don't feel he has reached his potential or even approached it."

Lindgren has been invited to the Los Angeles Invitational Meet Jan. 18 and, if a few details can be straightened out, some of the top college distance runners and perhaps a national television audience will be able to judge just how good the high school senior is.

Walters said that Lindgren does not have blazing speed, but is developing a better finishing kick to go with his clocklike pace.

He had a broken bone in his foot and was hobbling along on cast and crutches at the start of the last track season. But he recovered from it in amazing fashion and finally won the state mile race in a record 4:18.3.

Miner Is Rescued From Trap

MACKAY, Idaho (AP)—Stanley Johnson, a miner trapped for 27 hours in a 12-by-6-foot cubicle 1,158 feet underground, was rescued Wednesday.

He was cold, tired and a little weak—the temperature in the underground cell was around 40 degrees—but otherwise okay.

Taken to a hospital in nearby Arco, the doctors looked him over, gave him food and sent him to bed.

Custer County Sheriff Glen Reed who drove Johnson, 38, a bachelor, to the hospital said, "He didn't have much to say. He was pretty cold but had enough room to keep moving around in there so he could keep from freezing."

Justice of the Peace Art Wright of Mackay said they got him out by drilling a series of holes through a petition from another shaft, then chipping out the area between the holes. They couldn't blast because of the cave-in danger.

"He was trapped around one o'clock yesterday (Tuesday) afternoon. He and Harold Lambert were drilling into the bottom of a stope—an old ore pocket—but didn't know it was that close."

"When they hit bottom, tons of fill came down. It trapped Harold for about 30 minutes, but he dug out. Stanley couldn't—there was too much."

Wins $54,000 at Tropical Park

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A man in a blue suit picked the right four winners at Tropical Park Wednesday and collected $54,789.20 from the twin double pool, second largest payoff ever made at a U.S. horse race track.

The man waited until the last minute to walk up to the cashier's window. He showed the clerk a Florida driver's license, signed an income tax form, asked that his identity be kept a secret and walked away with a check for his winnings.

Rules Group Meet Ends Confusedly

NEW YORK (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Association wraps up the odds and ends of another convention today and sends members home with a confused conception of the boiling war with the Amateur Athletic Union.

In his closing report, Robert F. Ray of the University of Iowa, president of the NCAA, pledged "absolute and full support of the MacArthur agreement."

"I assure both the representatives of the AAU and our friends in the federations, in which we fully believe, of our continual willingness to discuss fully at any time with a cooperative spirit the issues which divide us."

At the same time, Ray disclaimed any part in the bitterness against the AAU reflected in the various reports of the college track and field, gymnastics and handball federations.

"They have a right to say what they wish," he said. "We are only a part of the federations. We do not control them."

The federation spokesmen have been sharply critical of the AAU and have promised that "all hell will bust loose" after the Olympic Games in Tokyo in October.

It was in the interest of U.S. showing in the Olympics that Gen. Douglas MacArthur, at the request of the late President Kennedy, hammered out a truce between the warring NCAA and AAU.

In final convention action Wednesday the NCAA refused to lift the ban on organized summer basketball competition for college players but made an exception in the case of Puerto Rico.

The NCAA altered its rules to make it permissible for Puerto Rican citizens to compete in the eight-team superior league in the summer without jeopardizing college eligibility.

I Just Got the Bounces Says Royal

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP)—"You've got to get those bounces to win the close games," Darrell Royal said. "I just got the bounces."

The brilliant young coach of the University of Texas, college football's Coach of the Year, is the first to admit that he's no superman in his profession.

"There were a dozen teams last season that might have licked us on a given day, just as we might lick them," he said. "Some games are decided by five snaps of the ball. The line between victory and defeat is a thin one."

Extreme modesty and a sound sense of values are the trademarks of the clean-cut, 39-year-old former Oklahoma quarterback who was picked by his contemporaries Wednesday as having done the best coaching job in 1963.

Royal was picked as the major college Coach of the Year and the man who once almost hired him, paunchy Bill Edwards of Wittenberg, set a precedent by winning the small college award for the second year in a row.

They were honored by a dinner Wednesday night at which they received the annual Kodak plaques. Also honored was the retired General of the Armies Douglas MacArthur, who was presented the first Tuss McClaughry Award given to an individual who has distinguished himself in service to others.

Royal led the Texas Longhorns through an unbeaten 10-game campaign, to a victory over Navy in the Cotton Bowl and the undisputed national championship. Edwards' Wittenberg team won eight games and tied one.

Worsley's Hockey Job Seems Safe

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A few more rough games for Montreal's Charley Hodge and Boston won't have a ghost of a chance of swinging a deal for goalie Gump Worsley.

The Bruins reportedly have been casting covetous eyes at Worsley, the former National Hockey League star who has been toiling in the American League with the Quebec Aces. Worsley was traded by the New York Rangers last summer for Montreal's Jacques Plante but played only eight games for the Habs before being injured. Hodge filled in brilliantly and before he knew it, Worsley was in the AHL.

The slump-ridden Bruins are said to be interested in swapping their goalie, Ed Johnston, for the Gump, but after the Toronto Maple Leafs strafed Hodge for six goals Wednesday night and a 6-1 victory, the Canadiens may not be unloading Worsley so quickly.

Liability, Accident Insurance Up

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Most Arkansas drivers will pay more for liability and collision insurance starting today.

State Insurance Commissioner Harvey G. Combs announced approval of a revised rate schedule for companies represented by the National Bureau of Casualty Underwriters and the National Automobile Underwriters Association.

These agencies cover about 68 per cent of Arkansas drivers. Combs said the high rates were approved because of an increasing number of automobile accidents.

"As long as these accidents continue to cost more and more money, we must expect increasing insurance rates," he said, adding that Arkansas companies have not made a fair profit for three years.

Combs said the personal injury accident rate increased 12 per cent in Arkansas during the first 11 months of 1963.

The Insurance Department said the average statewide increase for private passenger car liability insurance is 5.6 per cent. Rates for physical damage and comprehensive insurance also were adjusted upward and downward and Combs said the net result was an average statewide increase of 2.1 per cent in the cost of all insurance.

Asst. Commissioner Mrs. Fannie Hardy said comprehensive rates over the entire state were reduced 2.6 per cent. The rate on $50 deductible collision insurance was increased 2.7 per cent and the rate on $100 deductible by 12.7 per cent.

The state is divided into three rate areas for comprehensive insurance periods. Pulaski County is charged one rate, Sebastian County another and the rest of the state falls into the third classification.

Under the new rate schedule: Insurance for a family car with no driver under 25 will be increased $2 in Pulaski County, $1 in Sebastian County and $3 in the rest of the state.

Insurance for a car with a married driver under 25 will go up $4 in Pulaski, $2 in Sebastian and $6 in the rest of the state.

Insurance for a car with an unmarried driver under 25 will increase $6 in Pulaski, $3 in Sebastian and $11 in the rest of the state.

Tunisia to Recognize Red China

By ANDREW BOROWIEC
TUNIS (AP) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai returns to Africa today to collect the first dividend of his current tour—Tunisia's recognition of the Peking regime.

Chou interrupted his tour of Africa nine days ago to visit Albania, Red China's only ally in Communist Europe. He will spend two days in Tunisia, then go to Ghana, Mali, Guinea and East Africa.

Red China and Tunisia announced jointly on Dec. 27 that Tunisia would establish diplomatic relations with Peking when Chou came to Tunis.

Tunisia's recognition will boost to 12 the number of Red Chinese diplomatic missions in Africa. At present 15 African governments recognize the Nationalist Chinese government.

Western diplomats do not expect any radical change in Tunisia's attitude, which generally has been pro-Western and particularly pro-American. U.S. aid to Tunisia averages about $60 million a year.

Tunisia plan to recognize Red China is explained as "political realism" on the part of this North African nation, which is officially pledged to a policy of nonalignment.

President Habib Bourguiba wants to "normalize" the relations between the two nations, official sources say.

Tunisia twice voted in favor of Red China's admission to the United Nations and has sent several exploratory cultural and trade missions to Peking.

Truce Try in Construction Strike Fails

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Contract negotiations Wednesday again failed to settle the week old strike by several unions against the Arkansas Chapter of the Associated General Contractors.

Bill S. Clark, AGC attorney, said no new talks had been scheduled.

Iron Workers Local 321 failed to reach agreement with the AGC Wednesday on a new contract. Carpenters Local 690 also has been idled since Jan. 1 because of contract differences.

The old contracts expired Dec. 31.

Cement Finishers Local 270 and Operating Engineers Local 382 also are negotiating with AGC on new contracts, but are not striking. These contracts expired at the same time.

Wage differences are at the heart of the disputes.

Work on about 35 major central Arkansas construction jobs has been halted by the strikes.

5,270,000 Broiler Chicks Started

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Arkansas producers started 5,276,000 broiler chicks last week, the Crop Reporting Service estimated today, two per cent more than in the previous week.

Of the total placements in the state, 4,573,000 chicks were hatched in Arkansas and 70,000 came from other states. There were 244,000 chicks shipped out of the state during the week.

Insurance for a car used for business purposes will go up $3 in Pulaski, $2 in Sebastian and $5 in the rest of the state.

Fabulous Santa Anita Strikebound

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP)—There are no winners these days at strikebound Santa Anita. The state is losing $200,000 a day in racing revenue, the track is losing $2.5 million, the employees are losing a day's pay and the horses are restless.

The trouble began when non-track negotiations collapsed Monday. The Building Service Union sent pickets to the track's main gate in protest.

The main issue: A union proposal that the track provide health and welfare coverage for retired employees. Wages are not an issue.

On Tuesday Santa Anita President Robert P. Sturb said the

Observation Posts for Red Borders

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Johnson administration is drafting a proposal for a system of international military observation posts to be set up on both sides of the Iron Curtain in Europe as a safeguard against surprise attack.

It is understood officials are thinking about proposing 20 to 30 posts on each side at key transportation centers where unusual military activity by either Soviet or U.S. forces might be detected.

President Johnson announced in his State of the Union message Wednesday that "we shall make new proposals" on disarmament issues when the 17-nation disarmament conference reopens negotiations at Geneva in two weeks.

Work is going forward on the proposals in the U.S. Arms Control and Disarmament Agency under the immediate direction of William C. Foster, agency director. He is expected to head the U.S. delegation in the new round of negotiations beginning Jan. 21.

Officials have said the U.S. proposals will deal with familiar issues in new ways which they hope will enlarge the possibility of agreement with the Soviet Union.

Meanwhile, disarmament experts of the United States, Britain, Canada, and Italy are undertaking consultations aimed at coordinating their policies. France, whose chair in the conference is empty because President Charles de Gaulle decided not to participate, is an observer in the consultations.

The Western Allies form one bloc in the Geneva conference, Eastern European Communist countries another and a group of smaller nations the third. The observation posts idea has been talked about by both Russia and the United States for several years. U.S. policy-makers consider it one of the most hopeful possibilities and one which would contribute substantially to a further reduction of tensions and war fears in the world.

Present U.S. thinking, pending final decisions by the President, is that the observation post plan should provide for U.S. and Soviet military observers on both Soviet and U.S. territory with the participation of officers from the countries, as might be desirable depending on the other territories involved.

Ozark Trail Is Defined in 4 States

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — This is the four-state tourist trail mapped out Tuesday by the governors of Missouri, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

KANSAS—From Oklahoma on the Kansas Turnpike, north through Wichita, Hutchinson, McPherson, Salina, Abilene, Junction City, Manhattan, Wamego, Topeka, Lawrence and into Kansas City. A west alternate would extend from Wichita through Dodge City, Garden City and Great Bend, rejoining the major trail in Salina. An eastern alternate runs from Lawrence south to Ottawa and Chanute, east to Fort Scott and north to Kansas City.

MISSOURI — From Kansas City through Lexington, Marshall, Booneville, south to Camden and Linn Creek, Lake Ozark, Eldon, Jefferson City (a circle around the Lake of the Ozarks) through Tebbets, Rhineland, McKittrick, St. Louis, south along the Mississippi and west to Thayer. Along the way it would include DeSoto, Ste. Genevieve, Ironton, Eminence, and Van Buren. South into Arkansas and west to the Eureka Springs area back into Missouri in the Table Rock Lake region, circle and go back into Arkansas at Gateway. A northwest Missouri alternate will be from Kansas City to St. Joseph, back to Kansas City through Excelsior Springs. A southwest alternate would go from Springfield through Monett and Aurora to Joplin, Neosho and south through Anderson and Noel. A northeast alternate will be from Booneville to Hannibal and south to St. Louis.

ARKANSAS—From DeQueen to Mena (including Wilmena state park), to Hot Springs, Little Rock, Lake Maumelle, Petit Jean State Park, north past Dardanelle Dam, then to Harrison, Berryville, Pea Ridge National Park, Talbe Rock and Bull Shoals lakes. An alternate route starts at Noel, Mo., goes to Siloam Springs, Bentonville, Springdale, Fayetteville, Rogers Mountainburg, Winslow, Van Buren and Fort Smith. This route goes through the Ozark National Forest and includes the Boston mountains from Fayetteville and Fort Smith. Another alternate route

Suggest Car Ban for Drop-Outs

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—A Birmingham School Board member has suggested that graduation from high school be a prerequisite for obtaining a drivers license.

Liston A. Corcoran made the proposal Wednesday during a panel discussion on high school dropouts. He stated — and the panel agrees — that the automobile was a primary cause of pupils leaving before finishing high school.

Speech O.K. But Where Is Money?

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Congress pressed by President Johnson to cut taxes, enact civil rights legislation and war on poverty is unlimbering slowly.

In a 41-minute State of the Union speech interrupted a record 80 times by applause, Johnson told the legislators Wednesday the nation can move forward under a new $97.9 billion budget to provide the greatest federal impetus to social welfare in history.

Reaction to the President's pledge of less spending and fewer federal employees was generally favorable. But it was tinged with bipartisan skepticism that the series of health, education, housing and job training programs he proposed could be carried out under a reduced budget.

Several Republicans predicted there would be a wide "performance gap" between what the President asked and Congress produces.

Urged by Johnson to move expeditiously, the Senate Finance Committee stepped up slightly the ponderous pace of its consideration of the House-passed $11 billion tax cut. The President said is needed now "to keep the country moving."

It approved two provisions: a reduction in corporate rates from the current top of 52 percent to 50 percent for 1964 and to 48 percent in 1965; a minimum standard deduction of $200 for the taxpayer plus $100 for each exemption including himself.

But March 1 appears a better bet or completion of congressional action than the Feb. 1 date he spoke of.

The House Rules Committee already had scheduled a start of hearings today on the civil rights bill Johnson said poses a "moral issue."

The measure probably will reach the House floor early next month. Passage there would send it to the Senate, where it would have to await disposition of the tax bill.

Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., and old political ally, put Johnson on notice that he will face an all-out fight from Southerners determined to try to filibuster the measure to death in the Senate.

Johnson's call for action on health care for the elderly, financed through Social Security, will get the attention of the House Ways and Means Committee beginning Jan. 20. But the cards presently are stacked against the administration on this issue and 1964 approval is regarded as highly doubtful.

The President got some assurances of support for his decision to cut back by 25 percent production of enriched uranium, used in nuclear weapons. Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., chairman of the Senate House Atomic Energy Committee, said he regards the action as "both practical and wise."

Included in the as yet unbroke logjam in the House are Senate-passed bills to establish a domestic Peace Corps, bolster youth employment, provide additional help for depressed areas, expand the library construction program and provide for mass transit subsidies.

Republicans jumped on Johnson's failure to mention farm legislation, a circumstance that indicated there still is a fundamental difference of opinion within the administration on how to approach the problem of mountainous crop surpluses.

Nixon Thaws on Pledge Not to Run

Associated Press Writer

By JULES LOH

NEW YORK (AP)—Richard M. Nixon, apparently detecting growing sentiment that he should run again for president, says he is "willing to do everything necessary" to see to it the Republicans nominate their most popular and best qualified man this fall.

He insists there has been no change in his position that he is not a candidate, but it was his first indication that events might put him in this year's race.

"I will make any decisions in the future," he said in an interview, "based on my primary conviction that it is vital to get new leadership for this country and that the Republican party must nominate its strongest man."

"I will say this—and I haven't said it before—I will make any sacrifice to see that that is done."

The former vice president, who is 51 years old today, became a partner Jan. 1 in a New York law firm now named Nixon, Mudge, Rose, Guthrie & Alexander.

"It is a lucrative position for me," he said, "and some believe I wouldn't take any more risks. That's bunk."

Interviewed in his office, Nixon said: "I believe that any man who has become a public figure belongs to the public and as long as they want him to lead. But leadership doesn't always involve being a candidate."

"I feel that having been the (Republican) candidate in 1960 and having received the votes of more than 34 million people, I have a responsibility to them. I have to judge what that responsibility is and how to meet it."

"I also feel the Republican party has an obligation to nominate its strongest candidate and one who would make the best president—and I believe the two go together; that the man best qualified for president would also make the best candidate."

"I have thought that the best way to serve that end would be by not getting into the scramble myself, but by talking about issues and attempting to give leadership in developing a program against the present administration and for a Republican alternative."

"I've been around this track," he said, "I know what the presidency requires and what the campaign requires."

"Meanwhile I'm staying, not on the sidelines, but in the thick of the battle—a blocking back, you might say, or to use a hockey term, the one who gives the assist. You know you get just as much credit for the assist as you do for the goal."

Highlights in History of Today

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, Jan. 9th. There are 357 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1793, Francois Blanchard of France made the first balloon flight. He remained in the air 45 minutes and his landing at Woodbury, N.J., was witnessed by George Washington.

On this date: In 1816, Sir Humphry Davy's safety lamp was first used in mines.

In 1861, Mississippi seceded from the Union.

In 1945 the U.S. invasion of the Philippines during World War II began when 6th Army troops under Gen. Douglas MacArthur landed on Luzon.

In 1950, the New Jersey Supreme Court declared that loyalty oaths were unconstitutional.

Ten years ago—Iraq proposed that the eight members of the Arab League move toward federation by unifying their key ministries.

Five years ago — More than 130 Spaniards were drowned or reported missing in floods caused by a broken dam in a small town near the Portuguese border.

One year ago — The former board chairman of the New York Stock Exchange, J. Truman Bidwell, was acquitted of income tax evasion by a federal court jury.

LBJ Gets Top Billing in Address

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson has had amazing luck. It was as if the rest of the world agreed to take a holiday from the news so he could get the biggest possible, unchallenged front-page play. And he did.

And he's been free of the anguish that comes from dealing with Congress except for a brief, hurriedly with absent members when he twisted their arms to get them back to vote on foreign aid just before Christmas.

So he had the field pretty much to himself to make announcements and pronouncements. This was bound to end, like all good things, as it is ending now with Congress.

Wednesday Congress got his State of the Union message in which he offered something for practically everyone. One derisive Republican called it a "cul-de-sac utopia."

There's nothing unusually ominous about that since it's just about what some Republican says every year when a Democratic president outlines his program.

But Johnson offered so much in so many fields that even a much harder working Congress than this one, which wants to get home fast for the 1964 elections, would pass only a fraction of his programs.

He knew before he proposed them that, unless he fought for them, he would be accused of making only an empty political gesture. So he can be expected to fight. But it takes two to fight.

So from now on he will have to share much of the news with Congress. But that's only a start.

The rest of the world, after being almost hush-hush for weeks, will have to return to normal with its murders, arson, riots, tensions, conflicts, confusions and usual insanities. That's more competition for Johnson, starting any day now.

Shortly after President Kennedy's funeral it became clear Johnson, with less than a year before election and therefore with a need to make the greatest personal impact soonest, would start aiming for page one.

He could have done that anyway, without really trying and with very little interruption from anyone else, since as new President everything he did would have been news. But he went away beyond that.

He worked overtime, sometimes 18 hours a day and more, not only at his job but at creating news in 50 different directions, besides his personally conducted tours of the White House and his ranch and his deer hunting.

There weren't many events that took the play away from him since that last week in November.

Some of the outstanding exceptions were the kidnapping of Frank Sinatra Jr., the trip of Pope Paul VI to the Holy Land, and Sen. Barry Goldwater's entirely expected announcement he would like to be president.

But, even with the world back to normal, the possibilities for creating eye-catching news are by no means exhausted for the publicity-conscious Johnson. A trip abroad is a good example.

Even the Republican presidential candidates can hardly be more than occasional major competition for him on the front

Would Price Cotton Same U.S., Abroad

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress has been asked by two groups to pass cotton legislation that would enable domestic users to buy U.S. cotton at the same rate available overseas. A government export subsidy is responsible for keeping the overseas price beneath the domestic price.

The plea for elimination of the two-price system came Tuesday from a National Cotton Advisory Committee, called by the Agriculture Department, and from a conference of cotton growers and farm leaders. However, the groups disagreed on whether growers, handlers or mills should receive payments that would permit reduction of cotton prices for domestic use.

A House-passed bill would au-pages, at least until after the big party conventions next summer. They're just would-be presidents while he's the real thing.

Shumaker Depot Open to Hunters

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The 64,000-acre Shumaker area near Camden was opened Wednesday by the state Game and Fish Commission for hunting.

Sportsmen can shoot squirrel through next Wednesday, quail and rabbits through Jan. 31 and other fur-bearing animals through Jan. 20 in the area.

The commission had game management rights until last year. A spokesman said the decision to open the area was made after the commission could not complete satisfactory agreements with all landowners for operating the area as a game management area.

The property was the site of a naval ordnance depot sold by the federal government three years ago.

Authorize payments to textile mills to put the cost of cotton to them on a par with prices paid by foreign buyers.

A bill pending in the Senate — the Talmadge-Humphrey Bill — would reduce cotton price supports. The bill would make a payment to cotton growers to make up for their loss of income.

Southerner Fights Cut in Cotton
WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Harold D. Cooley, D-NC, chairman of the House Agriculture Committee, has predicted Congress will reject an Agriculture Department proposal to retire cotton acreage.

Cooley said Saturday the proposal would "wreck or severely damage the economy of many localities in the old cotton belt," from Virginia to Texas.

The Department, last week proposed a cotton acreage retirement program for 1964, 1965 and probably for 1966 in an attempt to hold down production and lessen surpluses.

Under the proposal, cotton producers would be paid in kind from Commodity Credit Corporation stocks for voluntarily underplanting allotments.

There would be a minimum diversion of 20 per cent and a maximum diversion of 50 per cent under the proposal. A farmer with 15 acres or less could place all of his allotment in the reserve.

Cooley said the Department estimated the carryover would be reduced by more than 2 million bales a year and annual costs in the overall cotton program could be cut by more than $200 million.

Cooley said the proposal would in effect "reactivate the old and discredited acreage reserve of the soil bank which was sponsored . . . back in the 1950s."

He said the old acreage reserve caused many thousands to migrate from farms, particularly from cotton farms, and "many of these crowded into conditions of squalor in our cities where many today still impact the relief rolls."

The hold reserve caused so much disruption and dislocation, Cooley said, that Congress killed it by refusing to appropriate funds.

Cooley said he talked briefly with Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman last week and would meet with him again this week to convince him that "if we must reduce cotton production there certainly is a better way to do it than by reviving the old acreage reserve."

"I told him (Freeman) this new proposition hasn't a ghost of a chance," Cooley said.

Sumerian was the oldest form of actual writing.

Goes Back to Burning Home, Dies

DARDANELLE, Ark. (AP) — A woman went back into her flaming home to get a dress and burned to death today.

The couple's 15-year-old daughter, Mary Ann, woke and found her room in flames, McCormick said. She called Bates, who pushed her out a window before waking his wife.

McCormick said he thought the fire started from an overheated wood stove. The family lived just off the Mt. Nebo Road west of Dardanelle.

In the News Today in Washington

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

MISSILE DETECTORS: The United States is reported to have supersensitive monitors operating near the Iron Curtain that record the take-offs of Soviet missiles and rockets and can trace changes in Soviet launching sites.

Space Business Daily, a trade publication, said Tuesday that the instruments, part of a project call Ileadbone, record the movements of all objects, even automobiles at close range.

It added a method has been found for telling which are missiles or spacecraft.

The Defense Department had no comment.

at receiving only a $100 a year pay increase, some teachers in schools overseas are returning the raise in little installments to Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

The protests were revealed Tuesday by E. L. Katzenbach Jr., deputy assistant secretary of defense in charge of education for dependents of U.S. military and civilian personnel stationed abroad.

He said he didn't know how many of the teachers have been returning the money but that it is being sent back to the teachers.

WHEAT SALE: The Commerce Department Tuesday authorized the sale of an additional $42 million worth of wheat to the Soviet Union, and $10.5 million worth to Russian satellite countries.

Licenses have now been issued for export of $167 million in wheat to Russia but only one firm deal has been disclosed.

Last week, a U.S. grain trader closed a deal with the Soviet Union for sale of $78 million in durum wheat.

OTEPKA: A recently resigned State Department aide has changed his testimony again and has told Senate investigators that tape recordings were made of Otto F. Otepka's telephone conversations.

The aide, Elmer D. Hill, also told the Senate Internal Security subcommittee that his former superior, John F. Reilly, knew of the taping despite Reilly's sworn testimony to the contrary.

This latest episode in the controversy over Otepka's dismissal as a State Department security officer was disclosed Tuesday when the subcommittee made public testimony from a closed session Nov. 18.

In dismissing Otepka, the State Department accused him of leaking department security information to the subcommittee. He is appealing his firing.

GOP Seeks Nominee and Party Unity

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY

WASHINGTON (AP) — A prime question faced the Republican high command today as it assembled for strategy sessions looking toward the November elections:

How to pick a presidential nominee without going through so many bitter donnybrooks that the party would be disunited for the November showdown?

This issue was not on the formal agenda of the Republican National Committee as it assembled for four days of talks on how to get out the vote, how to attract financing, how to cut down Democratic margins in big cities such as New York, Chicago, Philadelphia.

But the harmony issue was on the mind, for example, of Ray C. Bliss, Ohio Republican chairman and GOP powerhouse. In effect, he posted over his state's May 5 primary a "please keep out" sign addressed to major aspirants for the presidential nomination.

The Ohio plan is this: The delegation will go to the national convention pledged to Gov. James Rhodes as a favorite son. Ohioans are expected to vote for him on the first ballot—where they might jump after that Bliss was not prepared to say.

Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona, electioneering in New Hampshire, remarked that he might find it desirable to enter Ohio's primary. Bliss expressed the hope that Goldwater and all other major candidates would abstain, in the interests of avoiding a "divisive" fight.

A similar plan is under way in Wisconsin. There Rep. John W. Byrnes has agreed to run as a favorite son.

The Democratic National Committee, convening here Saturday, has no such worries about slugging matches for the presidential nomination, since President Johnson is considered a sure bet.

The big question, not likely to be publicly decided before the convention, is: Whom will Johnson choose as his running mate?

For this spot, the stock of Sargent Shriver, director of the Peace Corps and brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy is, at the moment, soaring.

An opinion that Johnson will be easier to beat in November than Kennedy would have been voiced Tuesday by Republican Gov. George Romney of Michigan. Preserving his official stance as a non-candidate, Romney informed the National Press Club he was amenable to a draft—as he said any concerned citizen would be duty-bound to be.

Ozark Trail Is Ridden by 4 Governors

JOPLIN, Mo. (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus of Arkansas joined the governors of Missouri, Kansas and Oklahoma Tuesday as trailblazers of the 2,000-mile Ozark Frontier Trail through the four states.

About 400 persons interested in promoting the tourist motor trail met with Faubus and Govs. John Dalton of Missouri, John Anderson of Kansas and Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma.

The idea for the trail was conceived by the American Petroleum Institute, which will promote it.

Faubus said it is not the purpose of the trail to displace other promotional efforts but to supplement them.

"No area will be hurt," Faubus said, "but some will benefit more than others. However, we feel all will benefit and this will be an added bonus to what we're already doing."

There may be some limit to the industrial expansion a state can achieve, Faubus said, but "there is no limit to the expansion of the tourist and recreation business."

Among the joint projects discussed by the governors were hunting and fishing licenses which could be used in all four states, universal road marking, speed limits and traffic laws.

NEW APPOINTEE — Anthony M. Solomon, above, has been appointed to the dual position of deputy assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs and deputy assistant administrator for Economic Co-ordination for the Bureau for Latin-America, AID.

Romney Sees GOP as New U.S. Force

WASHINGTON (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney said today he believes this nation is on the threshold of a new epoch in its political history, with the Republican Party as the potential driving force.

In a speech prepared for the National Press Club, Romney called upon his party's leadership to take the initiative that will make the GOP "a creative minority" that ultimately can regain power.

To do this, the party must work toward a rebirth of the nation and a restoration of the "eternal principles" of its founders, he said.

"The Republican Party must resume its historic responsibility not because it is popular, but because it is right, and because the politics of eternal principle are the best politics of all," said Romney.

He outlined six approaches which the GOP must take in order to accomplish the task, ranging from defining basic problems to "organizing for action at all levels—even in precincts normally considered democratic."

The speech was Romney's first major address of 1964 and marked his formal entry into the national campaign in this election year.

The former auto maker, Michigan's first Republican governor in 14 years, has been regarded as one of the dark horse candidates for the GOP presidential nomination but repeatedly insists he is not, will not become, a candidate.

Berlin Wall May Go Down This Year

By GENE KRAMER

BERLIN (AP) — Mayor Willy Brandt's West Berlin government made preparatory moves Thursday to approach the East German Communists on keeping the Red wall open after the special holiday visiting period ends Sunday.

Brandt had a round of meetings with officials of his government and with Erich Mende, vice chancellor and minister of all-German affairs in the West German government, a city spokesman said.

They reportedly discussed what should be covered in a new round of negotiations with the East Germans. West Berliners hope the arrangement for passes to visit relatives in East Berlin during the holidays can be made permanent and broadened to include visits to friends.

About 44,000 Berliners beat the possible last-minute rush by hurrying to East Berlin for reunions with relatives.

Only three days before the last scheduled visiting day, Allied sources described the situation as very delicate. They said it was uncertain whether the visiting period would be extended.

One Allied official said, however, that the West Berlin Senate "is not as forthcoming with information on what it intends to do as it might be."

U.S. Better Off Than Year Ago

By SAM DAWSON

AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The State of the Union is never as good as it could be — as both politicians and businessmen like to point out. But today it's better than a year ago by most standards.

So interest centers on the spots where it could be better—and in particular on the effects on these spots of the budget President Johnson will submit.

The President is stressing economy in established government endeavors and he is also calling for a war to end the poverty which goes hand in hand with the general prosperity. Such a war usually suggests government spending in new fields.

Businessmen are watching the budget proposals for a clue to how much of a push the economy can expect from tax cutting on one hand and increased government spending on the other. Total government spending will have to rise from last year, in spite of the economizing, because of all the projects already voted or inevitably expanding. The question is how much of an increase and in what areas.

At first, the big nudge to the economy was supposed to come from $11-billion lower tax collections from individuals and corporations — at a time when the expected larger government spending would mean more orders for firms, higher incomes for man individuals, and a Treasury deficit with inflationary implications.

The tax cuts may still come along fairly early this year. There remains the question of how much of a time lag between tax cutting and the ultimate life promised the economy.

But if a tighter than expected budget should cut off government spending in some lines and some communities that had been counting on it, the effect might restrain a large part of the nudge the economy was supposed to get. Or so the affected businessmen will contend.

And a lower than expected federal deficit will affect the money markets.

The war on poverty, one of the sore spots, could open new fields of government activity and spending—if Congress goes along. The result would be a reshuffling of the economic areas affected by government spending, rather than any major slackening of the boost government spending gives in general.

5 Guardsmen Linked to Explosions

TUSCALOOSA, Ala. (AP) —

Evidence against five Alabama National Guardsmen charged with setting off explosions near the recently integrated University of Alabama will be presented to the Tuscaloosa County grand jury.

Circuit Solicitor Fred Nicol said Monday night that the grand jury faces a heavy agenda, and he did not know whether the bombing cases would come up today or Wednesday.

Nicol said that he expects the jury to report to Circuit Judge Ruben H. Wright by late Thursday. He expressed confidence the jury will return indictments against the five.

They are accused of taking part in three mid-November explosions which rocked the campus near the dormitory housing and gave East Germany some actual political recognition.

Brandt has pledged to do nothing to compromise the city's status and insists that talks on wall-crossing are purely humanitarian and technical rather than political.

The East German Communists are showing in their propaganda, however, that they consider the wall arrangements as political and as gaining more of the recognition denied them by the West.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dean Rusk said today that the chief Western Allies will be consulting intensively in the near future on possible new initiatives for agreement with Russia and German and Berlin issues.

Rusk told a news conference that the Western Powers are already talking about possible moves for trying to keep gateways in the Berlin Wall open for travel between East and West Berlin after the Christmas holiday season.

Arkansas Locks, Dams Emphasized

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Army Engineer Corps said Saturday that much of the work on the Arkansas River in 1964 would be centered around the construction of navigation locks and dams.

Brig. Gen. C. H. Dunn, Southwestern Division engineer, said continued progress on river projects in the state is assured for 1964 with the signing last week of the public works and water projects appropriation bills by President Johnson.

Dunn reviewed progress during 1963 and plans for 1964. Construction on the first of the locks and dams, Lock and Dam No. 1 near the Mississippi River, was begun in November, Dunn said.

Work on two more such Arkansas projects and on the $106 million Robert S. Kerr Lock and Dam in Oklahoma, 25 miles west of Fort Smith, should be started soon, he said.

The Kerr project is the second of four high-lift locks and dams on the Arkansas River Basin. The first was the Dardanelle Lock and Dam in Arkansas, which is 56 per cent completed.

Dunn said work on the $84 million Dardanelle project is ahead of schedule and it should be finished by 1968.

Army Engineers hope to award more than $50 million in new construction contracts for navigation structures in the lower reaches of the Arkansas and White Rivers in 1964, he said.

Dunn said the Engineers will also start channel rectification and bank stabilization work at an estimated $13 million cost. He said the overall bank stabilization program for the Arkansas was about 65 per cent complete at the end of 1963.

Work on the White River Basin in Arkansas will center mainly around Beaver Dam in northwest Arkansas, he said.

The $47 million Greers Ferry Dam and reservoir, 97 per cent complete, is the only other project now underway on the White River Basin. No major contracts on that project are scheduled to be awarded in 1964, Dunn said.

Beaver Dam and reservoir near Eureka Springs, started in 1963, is already 78 per cent complete and the dam itself is 97 per cent complete, about four months ahead of schedule, he said. Total cost of the Beaver project is expected to be about $3.69 million.

Two major Engineer projects are under way on the Red River Basin—the Gillham Dam and reservoir on the Coassatot River, northeast of Gillham, Ark., and the Millwood Dam and reservoir, north of Texarkana.

The $13.4 million Gillham project is scheduled for completion in 1969. The Millwood project, to cost about $50 million by its completion in 1966, is about 30 per cent complete.

The five dams under construction in Arkansas are in a group of 19 being built by the Southwest Division of the Engineers. Last year, the estimated value of construction contracts in the Southwest Division was $250 million.

Racial Gap in Education Is Closing

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Education Commissioner Arch Ford said today statistics indicate Arkansas has made substantial strides in the last 10 years toward eliminating the gap between white and Negro in educational opportunities.

Ford released figures compiled by his research staff in taking issue with a charge by a civil rights group that Arkansas has showed no "progress in the past decade toward elimination of substantial inequality" in white and Negro schooling.

The charge was leveled some months ago in a report prepared by the Arkansas Advisory Committee to the Civil Rights Commission.

Gov. Orval E. Faubus asked the Education Department to look into the matter.

ment records show that during the last 10 years:

1. The number of Negro high school graduates has increased 102 per cent, while the number of white graduates has increased only 26 per cent.

2. The average Negro teacher's salary has increased 125 per cent and the average white salary 88 per cent.

3. Average per pupil expenditure is up 121 per cent for Negroes and 80 per cent for whites.

4. Expenditure for school facilities for Negroes has increased 90 per cent and for whites, 47 per cent.

Ford said that in Arkansas there is a greater difference in educational opportunity for white students in rich districts and white students in poor districts than there is difference in opportunities for Negroes and white pupils in the same district.

Negroes in a large city district such as Little Rock have a better educational opportunity than many pupils in a poorer all-white district, Ford said. Only 228 of Arkansas' 415 districts have Negro students.

Ford said the difference in average salaries between white and Negro teachers was $500 10 years ago and is $200 today.

Most of the difference, he said, is created in East and South Arkansas. Most cities are on a single salary scale with both Negro and white teachers drawing the same pay for equivalent work, Ford said.

The civil rights groups' report, Ford said, was unfair because it did not indicate that Arkansas has made progress although differences still exist.

"But that's understandable," he said. "The purpose of that group is to justify strong civil rights legislation."

Independent Agency Vital to Industry

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Arkansas industrial development leaders told a legislative group from Michigan today that industrial development functions of the state government should be carried on by a separate agency.

This was the main advice given to four Michigan legislators who visited with the staff of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission today.

The legislators, Reps. Don Gordon, William Boos, Clifford E. Terras and Gilbert Bursley are members of a standing legislative committee on economic development.

They came to Arkansas to study this state's successful industrial development program.

After a briefing in the AIDC offices in the state Capitol they toured the Little Rock industrial district and plants of the Teletype Corp., Orbit Valve Co., Westinghouse and the Jacuzzi Bros. pump company.

R. A. DuVall, assistant executive director of the AIDC, told the group that one of the strengths of Arkansas' industrial development program has been that it has brought industry into all sections of the state rather than concentrating it in large metropolitan areas.

He discussed the various tools Arkansas has created for industrial financing, particularly Amendment 49 and Act 9 of 1960.

Frank Cantrell, executive secretary of the Arkansas State Chamber of Commerce, said that Arkansas' development program had moved faster since the AIDC was created as a separate agency. He said that many state agencies and the state and local chambers of commerce worked together for industrial development.

Ted Morley, director of the state Planning Commission, said his agency was trying to keep the emphasis on spreading industrial development around the state.

Clarence Thornbrough, executive secretary to Gov. Orval E. Faubus, represented the governor and said Arkansas was proud that representatives of a state like Michigan would come to study its industrial development program.

"Ten years ago you wouldn't have looked at us," he said. "I think one of the reasons for our LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Leon Holsted of North Little Rock said Tuesday he will seek the position now held by state Rep. Jim Brandon of Little Rock, who has filed for a seat in the state Senate. Brandon will seek the position of Sen. Ellis Fagan, who died recently. Holsted, 36, is a Pharmacist and member of the North Little Rock school board. He is a native of Leslie in Searcy County.

Free Sub Rule Return Is Unlikely

NEW YORK (AP)—Although supported by 98 per cent of the coaches, the free substitution rule is unlikely to come back to college football next year.

Most observers attending the National Collegiate Athletic Association meetings here agreed that some changes would be made but that return of the unhampered two - pialoon system appeared remote.

"I think we will get a rule similar to that in 1962," said Frank Broyles of Arkansas. "It enabled players to go both ways and at the same time it permitted the use of offensive and defensive teams as a unit."

Ivy Williamson, athletic director of the University of Wisconsin and chairman of the rules committee, said his group would listen carefully to proposals of the coaches.

"We will hear from the outgoing president of the Coaches Association, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, as well as the new president, Len Casanova of Oregon," Williamson said.

"We will seek to arrive at the system that is best for all concerned. It is true, however, that the rules committee does not always go along with the sentiment of the coaches."

Meanwhile, two of the nation's leading coaches, Darrell Royal of Texas and Pete Elliott of Illinois, found themselves on opposite sides of the fence on the issue.

"I'm against unlimited substitution," said Royal, who led the Longhorns through an unbeaten season and to the national championship. "I think we coaches are beginning to look foolish changing the rules every year."

Elliott said, "I'll have to go along with the rest of the coaches. I think it would be a better game if we had unlimited substitution."

A poll conducted by the Coaches Association showed 98 per cent in favor of using substitutes without restriction, in the fashion of the pros.

Williamson's group, consisting of coaches and administrators, will meet at Fort Lauderdale, Fla., Jan. 11 to study the football code.

Cage Team Averages 6 Ft. 7 Ins.

By MIKE RATHET Associated Press Sports Writer

At Oklahoma City University, more than at any other college in the country, everyone looks up to the basketball players.

Most of them are as high as an elephant's eye. Kneeling.

The Chiefs claim the tallest starting team in the country at an average of 6-foot-7 2-5. The previous record was 6-7 1-5, set by Oklahoma City University last year.

The 6-7 1-5 Chiefs were 19-10 last year. The 6-7 2-5 Chiefs are 10-3 this year, and apparently improving with height.

A leading independent year in and year out, the Chiefs continued their bid for a national ranking Tuesday night by overcoming a 10-point deficit and whipping Loyola of New Orleans 91-86 in overtime behind a tall, talented trio who produced 70 points.

Eddie Jackson, a 7-footer, led the Chiefs with 25 points, 6-2

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Dozens of cans of dog food served as a shield when burglars broke into a Hot Springs supermarket, cracked a safe and got away with $2,700. Police said the thieves stacked the dog food cans in front of the window to hide them while they opened the 1,000-pound safe.

It's a New Danny Kaye on the TV

By BOB THOMAS AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Question: Has television success spoiled Danny Kaye? Answer: Yes, he's almost lovable.

Hollywood reporters of long standing could relish an interview with Danny Kaye for its give and take. He was master of the eloquent stare, the brisk reply, the knack of making an inquiry seem like the moulting of a kindergarten.

Ah yes, a Kaye interview was a challenge. But look at him now. He's brimming with goodwill. He is happy.

"I haven't been this happy in years," he says. "I haven't been this stimulated in years. All kinds of dire things were predicted for me if I did a weekly television show. It hasn't affected me physically. It hasn't affected me emotionally. I've never been in better shape."

"This is the best thing that could have happened to me. I remember sitting and talking with Moss Hart some time before he died. He mentioned that it was good for a person to take his life and shake it up once in a while. That's what I needed."

"I don't mean by shaking up my life I would have quit show business. But I was at a point where I needed some added stimulus, some new challenges. My career had fallen into a pattern of sameness; I would make an occasional picture, I would play some theaters and some night clubs, I would tour for UNICEF. I was reaching the same audience, and a smaller audience."

The interviewer hesitantly suggests that the television show might not have had an adverse financial effect.

"Money was the last thing I went into television for," he contradicted, showing a glimmer of his old form. "As a matter of fact, I am making less money now than I could if I worked in other fields."

Kaye explains that his only reluctance in entering television was that it would tie him to one locale for most of a year. That problem is alleviated somewhat by his schedule: five weeks on, one week off. The week off has found him fishing in Canada, attending the World Series, flying to London, etc.

Dedication Written by Late JFK

NEW YORK (AP)—President John F. Kennedy, a Pulitzer Prize-winning author, wrote an introduction to a book only months before he died describing the life of the creative artist as a "stern and lonely" one.

"Too often in the past, we have thought of the artist as an idler and dilettante and the lover of arts as somehow sissy or effete," the late president wrote last summer in "Creative America," to be published next month for the proposed national cultural center in Washington. The book has been dedicated to his memory.

"We have done both an injustice," Kennedy wrote. "The life of the artist is, in relation to his work, stern and lonely. He has labored hard, often amid deprivation, to perfect his skill."

Kennedy did much of the work on "Profiles in Courage" while recuperating from major surgery to correct a back ailment. The book became a best seller and won a Pulitzer Prize. Since his assassination last November it has risen again to the best seller lists.

Subversion Hated Policy of the Reds

EDITOR'S NOTE—John W. McCormack, speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, became the first in succession to the presidency with the death of John F. Kennedy. Here are his views on some world issues, as expressed in an exclusive interview with The Associated Press.

By HOLCOMB B. NOBLE Associated Press Writer

BOSTON (AP)—House Speaker John W. McCormack says that as long as the Soviet Union adheres to its "policy of subversion" the United States must maintain an alert and powerful military force.

He said the nation must not expect any quick or easy end to the cold war but must continue to be strong both militarily and spiritually if it is to combat Communist aggression.

In an interview with The Associated Press, he also expressed his thoughts on the proposed tax cut, the recent fight for the passage of the foreign aid bill, and civil rights.

After the assassination of President John F. Kennedy, McCormack, as speaker of the House, became first in succession to the presidency in the event of the death of President Lyndon B. Johnson.

McCormack, tall and slender at 72, was quick to scow at mention of suggestions by some critics that he resign because of his age. He said he is in good health and has no intention of resigning.

On foreign policy, McCormack said that at this time his thinking would not differ from that of President Johnson, who he said has expressed an interest in keeping him fully informed on security and foreign affairs.

He favors continued East-West negotiations and a continued U.S. foreign aid program as affirmative steps to achieving world peace.

"Still," McCormack said, "those who live in a dream world of hope, no matter how honest the view, might be reckless in the world of today."

He then mentioned the congressional battle last month that preceded passage of the 1963 foreign aid bill.

He said the program is becoming harder to get through

Jerry Wells contributed 25 and 6-6 Bud Koper added 21, the three turning the tide in overtime after Loyola's Gene Turni sent the game into an extra period with a jump shot in the final minute.

While Oklahoma City was bidding for national honors, fifth-ranked Davidson and ninth-ranked Villanova breezed to easy victories. Undeclared Davidson downed VMI 70-58 for its 11th victory and Villanova won its sixth straight by walloping St. Francis, N.Y., 84-48.

Elsewhere, sophomore Ernie Thompson scored 25 points as Bradley crushed Centenary 91-69, Billy Foster connected for 29 points in Drake's 93-68 thumping of Purdue, Gene Elmore scored 23 points and collected 17 rebounds as SMU defeated Baylor 85-65 and Barry Rodriguez's lay-up with 24 seconds left gave Rice a 61-60 decision over Texas Tech.

In other major games, Portland beat Oregon 61-58, Texas A&M crushed TCU 92-64, Arkansas nipped Texas 58-53, Providence defeated Massachusetts 89-73, Western Michigan edged Ohio U. 95-93, Georgetown beat Canisius 87-78 and Cornell took Florida Southern 97-87.

Davidson built a 53-38 lead midway in the second half before VMI regained the momentum and cut the deficit to 53-47 on baskets by Bobby Watson, Chuck Schmaus and Joe Kruszewski. Fred Hetzel and Dick Snyder then gave the Wildcats a 60-49 lead and put it out of reach. Hetzel led the scorers with 22 points while Snyder scored 16.

The Wildcats of Villanova brought their record to 10-1 by reaching to a 50-27 lead that was more than enough against St. Francis. Jim Washington was high for the winners with 17 points while George Leftwich had 15 and Bill Melchioni and Richie Moore 12 each.

Liz Taylor Divorce Due This Week

NEW YORK (AP)—A source close to Elizabeth Taylor says the actress will file for divorce from Eddie Fisher some time this week. The singer says "there's no shadow of a doubt but that she won't do it—and I eventually will give my consent."

Lawyers for Fisher, Miss Taylor and Richard Burton, the actress' soon-to-be bridegroom, held two days of conferences here without a financial settlement being reached.

Fisher said, "The whole thing is getting very boring, not only to me, but I think to the general public."

Despite the apparent stalemate in the financial settlement, involving millions of dollars, a source close to the actress said she will file some time this week in Puerto Vallarta, Mexico.

The complaint already is typed up," the source said. "And last Saturday, a power of attorney was filed in the First Civil Court of Puerto Vallarta, which will enable attorney Francisco Figueroa of Mexico City to file the suit."

The two days of legal meetings did not produce a hoped-for consent decree from Fisher, but Eddie, via telephone from Las Vegas, Nev., told a newsman:

"I intend for this thing to be over as quickly as possible. Maybe this action of Elizabeth's is a bit rash, but then, this is Elizabeth."

"I want it to come to an end. I want her and Mr. Burton to be very happy."

Memorial to Kennedy May Take Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—It took 57 years for the United States to honor Abraham Lincoln with the majestic Lincoln Memorial, and some congressmen consider this proof there's no need to Congress and will become more so unless there is an "awakening of public opinion to the needs and importance of foreign assistance."

The speaker called the civil rights bill the most important piece of legislation before the Congress, more important than the tax cut bill "because it involves a moral question."

rush with a memorial to John F. Kennedy.

The long, frustrating, and finally triumphant story of the Lincoln Memorial will figure prominently in the first debate to face Congress after it returns on Tuesday.

First order of legislative business for the House will be a bill that would rename the national cultural center in memory of Kennedy and would provide $31 million in grants and loans for its construction. A similar bill has passed the Senate.

Rep. Fred Schwengel, R-Iowa, president of the Capitol Historical Society and a Lincoln buff, will lead opposition to the bill.

"As a historian," Schwengel says, "I am interested in having adequate and appropriate memorials to our great leaders." In the case of the Lincoln Memorial, he continues, the nation, by waiting and not rushing, finally got "one of the greatest memorials in the world."

Schwengel proposes that Congress establish a presidential commission to study proposals for a Kennedy memorial and recommend one. This was the procedure that, after several tries, led to the Lincoln Memorial.

Transplants Succeed in 2 Out of 4

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Kidneys from a monkey, a chimpanzee and two baboons have been transplanted in four humans since last October. Physicians at Tulane University Charity Hospital in New Orleans and Colorado General and the Veterans Administration hospitals in Denver who performed the operations have said that without the transplants the four recipients had no chance of survival.

A 32-year-old woman, who was not identified, received the first transplant of a primate's kidneys—a monkey—last October at Tulane. She later died of the disease that prompted the transplant.

Jefferson Davis, 44, a New Orleans dock worker, was believed to have been the second person to undergo such a transplant. He received the kidneys of a chimpanzee Nov. 5.

Davis died Monday at Charity Hospitals in New Orleans. Dr. Brian McCracken, an internist, said the kidneys were functioning at the time of death. A chest infection followed by pneumonia was listed as the cause of death.

The transplants using the kidneys of baboons were both recorded at Colorado General Hospital. The first occurred Dec. 20 and the recipient was a 40-year-old man who is reported in good condition today.

The second transplant was reported Monday. Spokesmen said a 45-year-old man received two kidneys from a baboon in a 5½-hour operation. His condition was termed satisfactory.

Reds Call for Brandt on 'Wall'

By JOHN O. KOEHLER

BERLIN (AP) — The East German government is demanding West Berlin Mayor Willy Brandt's personal participation at the start of any new negotiations to reopen the Communist wall to West Berliners.

The Communist demand appeared to raise a new obstacle to any agreement to renew the Christmas pass arrangement that ended at midnight Jan. 5 after 17 days of visits by West Berliners to relatives in the Soviet sector of the city.

The East German condition was put to Brandt in a letter from Deputy Premier Willie Stoph, an authoritative source disclosed Monday night. It was regarded as part of the Communist regime's continuing campaign to whittle away at the refusal of the Western Allies in Berlin and the West German government to recognize it.

Brandt is under pressure from the Western Allies and his own government to avoid any gestures that could hurt the cause of nonrecognition.

Brandt's city government as well as the Western Allies have stipulated that new negotiations must be held on the same level as the talks that resulted in the previous agreement. Those talks were held between Cultural Affairs Ministers Horst Korber of West Berlin and Erich Wendt of East Germany.

Brandt may reply to the Communist demand when Korber and Wendt meet later this week, sources said.

The two officials met last Saturday, and Stoph's letter to Brandt was handed over at the time. West Berlin also laid down its conditions in a seven-point memorandum, but the East German representative reportedly tore up the paper.

Contents of the West Berlin memorandum were not disclosed.

Johnson's Deficit Cut Good, Faubus

By JOHN R. STARR

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval E. Faubus said today that recent developments indicate President Lyndon B. Johnson means business in his economy drive.

Faubus recently endorsed the Johnson economy program, even if it meant loss of Ft. Chaffee, but he had some second thoughts about the matter after discussing Chaffee with Fort Smith interests.

He said originally that he would not dispute closing of Chaffee if it were a genuine economy move. He said today he will not reach a definite conclusion about the genuineness of the move until he gets a report from a Fort Smith group which is investigating whether closing of Chaffee would be in the best interests of the Defense Department.

But Faubus said he definitely was encouraged by Johnson's action in cutting the proposed defense budget by $9 billion. "Look what he did," Faubus said. "He cut out a requested $8 billion increase and reduced the budget $1 billion below what it now is. I'd say he means business."

Faubus said Johnson has declined to meet with a group of governors to discuss the problem of beef imports which have depressed the price of domestic beef.

Such a meeting was proposed by Republican Gov. Henry Bellmon of Oklahoma, who invited Faubus by telephone to attend.

Faubus said he told Bellmon that he was interested in the beef problem but did not commit himself to attend a meeting with the President.

Bellmon told Faubus by telegram today that Johnson was now negotiating with foreign countries on the beef import problem and did not believe a public meeting with the governors would be advisable at this time.

"This looks like good judgment on Johnson's part," Faubus said.

Faubus said the cattle industry is becoming increasingly important in Arkansas with the disappearance of small farms from the crop production picture. He said he had received letters and telephone calls from Arkansas cattlemen asking him to do something about the beef import situation.

Romney Is Suddenly Available

By GENE SCHROEDER

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney's sudden availability for a draft for the Republican presidential nomination may be more of a strategic political move than a tactical one.

In announcing to a National Press Club audience Tuesday that he would have a duty to accept a genuine draft, Romney—in the view of some observers—could well have been making a calculated power play.

Recent statements by the governor indicate he wants to play a more important role in national politics.

In an interview with The Associated Press, Romney said: "What happens nationally has an important bearing on what happens to Michigan, and I certainly hope to pursue a course of activities that would permit me to have some influence on what might happen nationally in 1964."

If it had not been a certainty, before, Romney assuredly will be placed in nomination on the first ballot at the San Francisco convention next July — probably as Michigan's "favorite son."

Since he can be expected to draw a number of votes from other state delegations, the governor may find himself playing an important role in deciding who gets the nomination.

He could to this by throwing his support to one candidate or another if a deadlock develops. Or, if his strength picks up on the second ballot, Romney might go all the way to the nomination as a compromise candidate standing somewhere between New York's Gov. Nelson Rockefeller, and Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater.

Romney has made no secret that he has reservations about some of Goldwater's views, especially regarding civil rights, right-to-work laws and foreign affairs.

While he doesn't share all of Goldwater's views, Romney doesn't happen to share all of Rockefeller's either.

NEW YORK (AP) — From television commercials to the Metropolitan Opera. That long journey was completed Monday night by soprano Mary Costa.

She made her debut at the Met, singing the lead in "La Traviata."

Miss Costa has been singing with the San Francisco Opera since 1960.

She did not sing in TV commercials. But movie fans heard her voice as that of "The Sleeping Beauty" in the movie cartoon feature.

MADRID (AP) — Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., arrived from Lisbon for what members of his party said was a week's vacation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur says he once faced the threat of dismissal from West Point because he wouldn't inform on upper classmen.

He told the story in the first of seven installments of his memoirs printed in the Jan. 10 issue of Life magazine.

MacArthur said that shortly after he entered the U.S. Military Academy in 1899 he was called as a witness against cadets after a hazing.

"Under questioning," MacArthur recalled, "I explained fully all circumstances of the matter but refused to divulge the names of the upper classmen involved. My mother and father had taught me two immutable principles — never to lie, never to tattle."

"But if the court insisted and ordered me to reveal the names and I then refused to obey the order, it would in all likelihood mean my dismissal and the end of my hopes and dreams."

MacArthur said that today, 60 years later, he could still "feel the beads of sweat on my brow."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said he plans to keep a "pretty regular schedule" in the White House.

He told reporters he usually rises at 8:30 a.m. and goes over official papers for the next two hours. Then, he said, he likes to report to the office at 8:30 or 9.

Johnson added that he swam eight lengths of the White House pool Monday as part of his regimen of exercise, and has been making a practice of swimming before lunch and dinner.

Lester Graves, a Stuttgart businessman, said Monday he will run for the 26th district state Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley. Dr. John D. Miller, a Brinkley optometrist, has filed for the seat and Allen's widow, Mrs. Dorothy Allen, has said she will also seek the post.

Mongolia Is Rugged, But Life Thrives

EDITOR'S NOTE — Mongolia, the giant land which lies between Siberia and China, is seldom visited by American reporters. For one thing, the United States does not recognize Mongolia and visas to enter the country are not easy to obtain. This dispatch is by the AP's chief of bureau in the India-Pakistan area. He went into Mongolia via the Soviet Union.

By HENRY S. BRADSHAW

TSETSERLEG, Mongolia (AP) — Dashdorji lives in a yurt. In the spring he takes the canvas and then the felt off its wooden frame, dismantles the frame and in about 30 minutes is ready to move his home. He mounts his small, rugged Mongolian horse and drives 130 cows to summer pasture.

There, Dashdorji puts up the circular yurt in about 40 minutes and moves in. When autumn comes, maybe sooner if the pasture is poor, he moves again.

Dashdorji's ancestors have been living this way in Mongolia for centuries. But Dashdorji is no primitive nomad.

He sleeps in a metal-frame bed and listens to a battery-operated radio. His wife has a sewing machine. His 20-year-old son is studying geology in Moscow. Another son, 15, is studying to be an engineer in Ulan Bator, capital of the Mongolian People's Republic.

In four years his daughter now 4, will leave home to attend school at the headquarters of a cooperative of which Dashdorji is a member.

The cooperative is about 25 miles west of Tsetserleg, a provincial capital of about 13,000 persons, and 325 miles west of Ulan Bator.

Dashdorji currently is camped in a mountain-rimmed meadow over a mile high. Ten of the cows are owned by four families, the other 120 by the cooperative—part of the cooperative's 84,000 head of livestock on 1,225 million acres. Dashdorji is paid for tending the cows.

Despite increasing industrialization and agricultural development, Mongolia is still primarily based on livestock economy. Sheep, goats, cows, horses and two-humped camels thrive on sweeping plains and broad valleys that look a lot like Montana.

The government has organized all the rural people of Mongolia's 1.02 million population into about 350 cooperatives and 25 state farms.

In addition to schools, the buildings of Dashdorji's cooperative include a hospital, veterinary station, cinemas and other facilities. This is the permanent core manned by 2,800 persons for the shifting system of pasturing the livestock by the other 2,000 cooperative members.

People in News Over the World

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Sen. Abraham Ribicoff of Connecticut, often mentioned in speculation about the Democratic vice presidential nominee, says he's not a candidate.

"I think there are other men more qualified for the vice presidency than I," Ribicoff told a reporter in Los Angeles.

Ribicoff, 53, was secretary of welfare in President Kennedy's Cabinet. He was in Los Angeles to make a speech.

BHUBANESWAR, India (AP) — Prime Minister Nehru, 74, has canceled all engagements for today because of what an official spokesman described as fatigue.

ADDIS ABABA (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie today accepted an invitation from Premier Khrushchev to visit the Soviet Union. Date of the visit was not announced.

NEW YORK (AP) — From television commercials to the Metropolitan Opera. That long journey was completed Monday night by soprano Mary Costa.

She made her debut at the Met, singing the lead in "La Traviata."

Miss Costa has been singing with the San Francisco Opera since 1960.

She did not sing in TV commercials. But movie fans heard her voice as that of "The Sleeping Beauty" in the movie cartoon feature.

MADRID (AP) — Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., arrived from Lisbon for what members of his party said was a week's vacation.

NEW YORK (AP) — Gen. Douglas MacArthur says he once faced the threat of dismissal from West Point because he wouldn't inform on upper classmen.

He told the story in the first of seven installments of his memoirs printed in the Jan. 10 issue of Life magazine.

MacArthur said that shortly after he entered the U.S. Military Academy in 1899 he was called as a witness against cadets after a hazing.

"Under questioning," MacArthur recalled, "I explained fully all circumstances of the matter but refused to divulge the names of the upper classmen involved. My mother and father had taught me two immutable principles — never to lie, never to tattle."

"But if the court insisted and ordered me to reveal the names and I then refused to obey the order, it would in all likelihood mean my dismissal and the end of my hopes and dreams."

MacArthur said that today, 60 years later, he could still "feel the beads of sweat on my brow."

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson said he plans to keep a "pretty regular schedule" in the White House.

He told reporters he usually rises at 8:30 a.m. and goes over official papers for the next two hours. Then, he said, he likes to report to the office at 8:30 or 9.

Johnson added that he swam eight lengths of the White House pool Monday as part of his regimen of exercise, and has been making a practice of swimming before lunch and dinner.

Lester Graves, a Stuttgart businessman, said Monday he will run for the 26th district state Senate seat vacated by the death of Sen. Tom Allen of Brinkley. Dr. John D. Miller, a Brinkley optometrist, has filed for the seat and Allen's widow, Mrs. Dorothy Allen, has said she will also seek the post.

Pine boughs decorated the windows of Edward Shippen's gracious drawing room, and immaculately dressed gentlemen and lavishly gowned ladies exchanged Christmas toasts as they stood at a table laden with bowls of punch in the dining room.

Benedict sat on a comfortable, cushioned love seat, his injured leg propped on soft cushions. He paid no attention to the merrymaking but instead devoted his complete attention to the lovely girl with pale blonde hair and deep blue eyes who sat beside him.

Other guests took his attention to Peggy Shippen for granted, and although the house was filled with holiday merrymakers, no one disturbed the privacy of the couple.

Peggy, sure of herself at 18, knew she looked particularly attractive in her French gown of blue silk and was aware that she made a conquest.

He wanted to kiss her. He leaned toward her, almost succumbing to the desire.

Peggy discouraged him with a slight shake of her head.

"You should be dancing the quadrille with the other youngsters," Benedict was afraid she might agree.

Peggy saw the hint of concern in his eyes, so her reply was soothing. "Really, General Arnold. You make yourself sound like an old man." Her laugh ended on a light trill.

"When the British were here, you often spent hours dancing with Captain Andre." Momentarily forgetting his role as a suitor, Benedict peered at her through half closed lids.

Peggy could scarcely conceal her annoyance. She certainly wished he would stop referring to her relationship with John Andre. On the other hand, his jealousy was flattering.

"Captain Andre is a charming boy," she said emphatically. "But we rarely exchanged a serious word. If you wish, I'll gladly show you his letters one day."

Benedict was surprised that a Patriot's daughter should write to Sir Henry Clinton's adjutant general. "Do you correspond with him?"

She saw he was serious. "Of course," she said airily. "As you and Sir Henry allow non-military correspondence, I take full advantage of your generosity."

His face darkened. "The Continental army is keeping Clinton so busy that his adjutant should have very little time for personal correspondence."

The subject needed changing, and she switched it adroitly, her tone sympathetic. "I read that dreadful article about you in the 'Pennsylvania Packet'. It was ridiculous."

Benedict feigned indifference. "The good gentlemen of the state Executive Council object to the fact that I've been engaging in some private financial transactions. What they probably resent most is that the deals have been successful." Actually some of the enterprises had failed, but he couldn't resist boasting to this lovely girl.

Peggy placed her hand on his arm for a moment. "You're the Council's real target now. They are as fanatical as the New Englanders who burned witches at the stake. If they can crucify America's greatest hero, the mobs will vote them into office again and again, as long as they live."

Benedict thought that her features were as perfect as those on a cameo. He hesitated briefly, then made up his mind to confide in her, even though he might be pushing his suit a trifle too rapidly. "I've been giving serious thought to retiring from the army," he said.

Peggy turned back toward him, too astonished to speak. "I have an opportunity to buy an estate in New York. According to information I've received from Philip Schuyler, a magnificent property confiscated from a Loyalist is available near Poughkeepsie on the Hudson."

Peggy, picturing herself as the mistress of such an establishment, was enchanted. The estate would be a magnet for important visitors; the wife of a great general would dazzle the guests with her beauty and charm.

"My sons," Benedict continued, "are attending school, and my sister offers me little companionship. I have no intention of moving there alone." He stared at her intently.

Color rose in Peggy's face. Benedict hid his elation. The proprieties had to be observed. He could not speak of his love until he had asked her father for her hand. But he believed he had already won his most glittering victory.

Foreign Aid Bill Signed by Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed today the $3 billion foreign aid appropriation bill.

The funds are for the fiscal year that began last July 1. The amount, a compromise between Senate and House figures, is $600 million below the ceiling previously authorized.

It is $1.5 billion below the amount originally asked last spring by President John F. Kennedy, and also well below the $3.6 billion level Johnson had said would represent "a dangerous reduction in our security."

The President won one point in the long dispute over the measure—elimination of a House-originated ban on government guarantee of credit to Communist nations on grain sales and other deals.

The fight over that point delayed the adjournment of the first session of the Congress that went back into business today.

The House finally agreed to eliminate the ban in a daybreak session the day before Christmas. Called back from a brief Christmas recess, the Senate passed the bill Dec. 30. Over Republican objections, Johnson had insisted that action be completed before the first session ended.

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

SHRIVER: Peace Corps Director R. Sargent Shriver has conferred with King Hussein of Jordan on his Middle Eastern tour, which will also include a meeting with Israel's president.

Shriver, brother-in-law of the late President John F. Kennedy, is carrying personal letters from President Johnson to the auto dealer, said Tuesday he placed an order with a Chicago firm for new auto contract forms.

The company's return letter said: "We wish to inform you that we only do business in the continental United States and we have no facilities for printing in a foreign language."

heads of state of six countries. Shriver's 15-minute meeting in Jerusalem Monday with King Hussein came a day after the Peace Corps chief had an audience with visiting Pope Paul VI, at which he presented a letter from Johnson.

In Washington, Johnson told reporters during a White House reception for his staff that he regards Shriver "as one of the most brilliant, most able and most popular officials in government."

RECEPTION: President Johnson arrived late at a belated Christmas party Monday for members of the White House staff, and many guests made a second turn through the receiving line.

Although they had been greeted by Mrs. Johnson and Lucy Baines Johnson, the President's 16-year-old daughter, many of the hundreds present went back to shake hands with the President.

The President's late arrival was caused by a meeting with his Cabinet on the state of the Union speech.

CRIME FIGHT: Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy has reported to President Johnson that a dramatic surge occurred in 1963 in the fight against organized crime.

Reporting to Johnson Monday on the Justice Department's 1963 activities, Kennedy said it had been "a notable and perhaps historic year" in the war on organized crime. He said "scores of racketeers who for years corrupted their communities are now serving federal prison sentences."

Kennedy said convictions on racket charges had more than doubled from 138 in 1962 to 288 in 1963, while the number of persons indicted rose from 350 to 615.

Accidental poisonings claim the lives of 500 children each year, according to the U.S. Public Health Service.

Foreign Aid Shifts to Pentagon?

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

WASHINGTON (AP)—Any attempt by the Johnson administration to shift some foreign aid items to the Defense Department's budget is certain to encounter strong and probably effective opposition in the House Appropriations Committee.

Unconfirmed reports that such a move would be made by the administration have been current for weeks in congressional circles.

They have come to the attention of Rep. Otto E. Passman, D-La., who heads an appropriations subcommittee which had handled all foreign aid funds for years and who has led the fight to cut foreign spending.

"There is some indication," Passman said in an interview,

"that they are going to try to scatter foreign aid funds all over the new budget. They are not going to get away with it. This is simply an indication that the requests for new funds are not on solid ground."

Passman warned that "the new team in the executive branch may have to learn the hard way that it is not easy to hide the foreign aid total from Congress."

"Wherever they put it, we will find it and cut out the fat," he added.

Efforts in the past to shift the military part of the aid program to the defense budget have failed, largely because Chairman Clarence Cannon, D-Mo., of the Appropriations Committee has insisted that the entire aid budget be handled in one bill drafted by one subcommittee—headed by Passman.

Cannon has arbitrary power to determine how the over-all federal budget shall be parceled out among his 15 subcommittees.

Strobe Light Helps Out a Factory

By ALVIN SCHAY
Associated Press Writer

A production machine in one of Arkansas' larger industries was vibrating too much. Technicians could not find the trouble spot.

"Let's try GIT," someone suggested.

GIT is The University of Arkansas' Graduate Institute of Technology at Little Rock. It has had a good deal of experience in helping state industries with technical problems.

In this case, the industry told GIT that the part where the machine probably was in trouble moved so fast that the human eye could not detect the fault.

GIT's answer was a strobe light, similar to a photographer's flash (the type which doesn't require a new bulb with each shot). A GIT man took the light to the industry, showed an employee how to use it. Soon, by "stopping" or "freezing" the motion of the part, the trouble spot was located and corrected.

Dr. William Stiles, director of GIT, stressed that the institute is available for any unusual advice not available elsewhere in the state to industry. GIT doesn't want to be in competition with private consulting engineer firms.

Helping industry is in line with the institute's fundamental purpose — providing graduate education — since research is an integral part of the program. Stiles said GIT can use its specialized equipment both for the benefit of industries, and "to help teach our students."

GIT performs one service for a Little Rock industry which helps still another group — employees. A GIT graduate student periodically takes breath samples of employees working with luminous material used on the faces of wrist watches, to make sure none has been over-exposed to radioactivity.

Stiles said GIT gets calls from all types of industries, from utility companies to electronics firms.

Among the services GIT has performed are such minute things as analyzing gas in light bulbs and adhesives used in the base of a bulb.

The institute's work is not confined to industries. One GIT graduate student is on the State Police payroll. He handles such things as matching paint from hit-and-run cars, identifying narcotics and determining if flammable liquids were used in suspected cases of arson.

GIT also works with the Arkansas Water Pollution Control Commission.

Realizing the value of the institute to industries, many Arkansas business leaders have urged larger appropriations for GIT.

W. S. (Will) Mitchell, president of the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce in 1963 said more money for the GIT would make it attractive to local industries in need of research work, and might induce new industries to locate in Central Arkansas.

High Fashion Has Prices Even Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — Being a clothes horse is an expensive proposition for the average-income woman.

This became more self-evident to newsmen here for Press Week activities with each of Monday's shows arranged by the New York Couture Group and the American Designers.

Although no more extravagant than last year, couturier designs still are astronomically out of reach of all but one of every 1,000 women.

The styles, even reproduced at ready-to-wear prices, will require larger wardrobes. The woman who sews her own will find that design piracy is difficult. If she does acquire the garments, she will spend a mint pawning them out of the dry cleaners.

In place of the basic dress that nobody quite remembers are unforgettable costumes in screaming color combinations and bold, attention-demanding patterns. Both Adele Simpson and Donald Brooks made use of these in their collections. Naturally, a woman needs more of these, since the same showing costume wears on the memory.

Further, shouting fabric linings in jackets and coats match up with blouses or dresses, and a new coat for every dress is a strain on anybody's budget.

The semi-fitted suit is not as easy to make as last year's box jacket. Harry Fretzel explained to the writers, showing a variety of such silk and men's wear worsted suits. Bias-cut dresses, miserable to fit and sew unless you are a professional, were among the challenges offered by designers Brooks and Roxanne

2 Counties Put in Quarantine

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The state Health Department issued a rabies quarantine for Yell and Conway counties today.

Dr. William L. Bunch Jr., director of the department, said 11 children in Conway County are being given anti-rabies vaccine after being bitten by rabid foxes.

Four rabid skunks have been reported in the southern part of Conway County.

In Yell County, a rabid fox attacked several dogs in a game preserve, Bunch said.

The quarantine was issued on the request of county officials.

McClellan Honors GOP Senator

Arkansans in Washington
By GORDON BROWN

WASHINGTON (AP) — It isn't often that a U.S. senator of one party travels half way across the country to speak at an affair honoring a fellow senator of the opposite party.

But that's what Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., did recently. He went to Madison, S.D., to address a Republican meeting honoring Sen. Karl Mundt, R-S.D., who, like McClellan, was celebrating the completion of a quarter century in Congress.

McClellan, in his talk, said a lot of folks there probably were wondering why a Democratic senator from Arkansas was speaking at a dinner honoring a Republican senator from South Dakota.

His answer: "Well my personal friendship and admiration for Sen. Mundt are within themselves a sufficient answer."

And, he continued, while there are times for partisanship and party labels there also are times when friendship and devotion to ideals "clearly transcend the level of partisan politics — and this is one of those delightful occasions."

McClellan pointed out he and Mundt came to Congress at the same time and that they serve together on two Senate committees, that on basic issues they have much in common, that their philosophies are similar.

The dinner originally was scheduled for the night of Nov. 22 but when McClellan and Mundt, who were en route at the time, heard the news of President Kennedy's assassination, they cancelled the trip and returned immediately to Washington.

Atomic Energy Commission spokesmen say that the next step in the move for construction of an experimental fast nuclear reactor near Fayetteville will be for negotiators for the AEC and the utility group to sit down together and see if they can come to agreement on details of a contract.

What was signed recently between the AEC and representatives of the utility group was a memorandum of understanding — sort of an agreement to try and reach an agreement.

Since it is a highly complicated and technical matter, it may take a while but prospects are good.

One of the 17 electric power companies participating in the project is the Arkansas Power and Light Company.

The reactor would be used for research into development of electric power from nuclear power.

President Johnson hasn't given Congress his views on extension of the accelerated public works program but legislation is pending in the Senate Public Works Committee for that purpose.

Preparing for hearings on the legislation, the committee staff has made a study of the program. The study shows that as of last Nov. 5 a total of 232 Arkansas projects had been approved at a federal cost of $16,600,000. These projects involved an estimated 32,161 man-months of employment.

The study also showed that additional Arkansas projects costing $9,532,000 are eligible for the program if funds become available. The bulk of them are local sewer and water projects.

Arkansas was fourth among the 50 states in the number of projects approved but 17th in federal money allocated, indicating that the Arkansas projects generally were small.

U.S. Urges Harmony in Island Fight

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP) — The administration of President Johnson had told President Sukarno the Malaysian crisis forms a major obstacle to better Indonesian-American relations, highly placed sources disclosed today.

The informants, who declined to be named, said the American view was conveyed in a letter from Johnson which U.S. Ambassador Howard P. Jones handed to the Indonesian leader last week.

Indonesia opposes the neighboring Federation of Malaysia. The United States has declared it backs the Malaysia concept. The American view has been that the three nations involved in the crisis — Indonesia, Malaysia and the Philippines — should get together and discuss their problems in a peaceful manner.

Virginia School Back in Court

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court agreed today to rule on requests that it take prompt, final action to reopen public schools of Prince Edward County, Va., on a desegregated basis by next September.

County education officials closed Prince Edward public schools in 1959 to avoid court-ordered desegregation.

The Prince Edward racial controversy has been in courts since May 1951. It was one of the original school desegregation cases decided by the Supreme Court in 1954.

In 1955 the Supreme Court returned the case to lower federal courts with instructions that they enforce with all deliberate speed the 1954 decision outlawing school segregation. More litigation followed in federal and Virginia state courts.

The Supreme Court, in an unsigned order, said that "in view of the long delay in the case" since the 1954 decision, and the importance of the questions presented, it will hear arguments March 30 on the case.

The Supreme Court's order noted it was taking this step without waiting for final action in the case by the U.S. Circuit Court.

Negro parents had petitioned the Supreme Court to dispose of all issues "in such convenient haste" as to give the county school board time to reopen schools next fall.

Supporting the Negro parents, the Justice Department in a memorandum to the Supreme Court said, "this case is ripe for decision now."

Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Botton of Virginia told the Supreme Court in a brief it should abstain from action until the U.S. Circuit Court in Richmond had opportunity to take up the case again and rule on it in the light of a Virginia Supreme Court decision Dec. 2, 1962 that the state has no legal obligation to operate free public schools in Prince Edward.

Botton's brief said state and county officials took the fundamental position that establishment, maintenance and operation of the public schools is a local matter.

Additional Aid Vetoed by British

SINGAPORE (AP) — British Defense Minister Peter Thorneycroft said tonight he sees no immediate need to bring in fresh British troops to help guard Malaysia's Indonesian-threatened Borneo border.

Thorneycroft emphasized that neither will Britain seek military assistance from Commonwealth partners Australia and New Zealand.

He spoke at a news conference shortly after arriving from the Malaysian capital of Kuala Lumpur, where he had urgent talks with leaders there on the tense Borneo situation.

There had been speculation Britain might strip its forces committed to the Atlantic Alliance in Europe to help meet defense commitments here and in Cyprus.

Thorneycroft said Britain plans to honor its defense obligations to Malaysia "to the hilt."

He said he had no doubt about Indonesia's "aggressive role" in the Borneo regions of Sarawak and North Borneo, former British territories that joined Malaysia over Indonesia's objections last Sept. 16.

He expressed confidence that Malaysian troops would be able to defend themselves against any incursions across the border with Indonesian Borneo.

Dishonorable Discharge Is Handicap

WASHINGTON (AP) — "I find it very hard to live with the shame. They will not hire me. I can't enter the college of my choice."

With words such as these, many former enlisted men petitioned the Navy to let them escape from the shadow of an undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable discharges.

Now, the Navy is using these words to drive home an object lesson — to impress on young sailors "the handicaps and consequences" of receiving less than honorable discharges.

"Many young enlisted men are under the erroneous impression that a less than honorable discharge will not penalize them as civilians," said a notice being circulated to all ships and shore stations.

To dispel that impression, the Navy Bureau of Personnel has selected remorseful quotes from petitions asking a change to honorable discharge.

Without identifying the writers, the Navy is making sure the quotes are shown to sailors throughout the fleet — and that they realize none of the petitions quoted were granted.

Since 1959, officials said, undesirable, bad conduct and dishonorable discharges from the Navy have been running at the rate of about 3,600 a year.

Barry Hits Program LBJ 'Inherited'

By WALTER R. MEARS

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP) — Sen. Barry Goldwater, keynoting his bid for the White House, has called President Johnson a New Dealer who talks like a conservative and faces the liability of programs inherited from President John F. Kennedy.

"I am going to do everything in my power to return the presidency of the United States to the principles which have made this nation great and which can make it greater," the Arizona senator declared Monday night in his first address as a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

Goldwater said he thinks he already has some 500 of the 655 delegate votes it would take to win him top spot on the GOP ticket at the San Francisco convention next July.

Goldwater made his first campaign speech at a $100-a-plate fund-raising dinner which originally was scheduled Nov. 23, the day after President Kennedy was assassinated in Dallas, Tex.

He got a polite reception in a half-empty hall. Local Republicans explained they admitted only party contributors who bought tickets. They said 879 were sold.

Goldwater said he respects President Johnson but considers him "first of all today a leader bound by the commitments of his party. And in that role I shall and do oppose him with all the support I can gather. For his party is wrong."

"The President will expound on his inheritance from his predecessor's administration," Goldwater said. "These inherited proposals he must not and he cannot reject — or even materially revise."

"These cannot be listed among President Johnson's assets," Goldwater said. "They are his liabilities."

The Arizona conservative said Johnson himself "knows that Republican ways are the ways to inspire Americans today."

"Even while he tells his staff that he is, frankly, a Roosevelt New Dealer, he tries to sell the public on the idea that he is a conservative."

Goldwater, who today launches his campaign in New Hampshire, says "our opponent is the Democratic regime now in power. I do not believe in intra-party blood-letting."

Forgiven on 1 Shooting, Forgives 2nd

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Henry Brown Jr., 40, believes in returning favors, even when it involves an assault to murder charge.

He told attorneys Tuesday he won't press charges against Myrtle Ross, 44, even though he said she shot him.

The reason: Brown said he shot Myrtle's sister last year. "They forgave me and now I wish to do the same for her family."

Dist. Atty. James Barlow wasn't in an equally forgiving mood. He said he will submit the case to the grand jury.

To Lead Workers Into Sugar Crop

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Cuba's minister of industry will lead cane cutters into Camaguey Province's sugar fields next month, Havana Radio said today.

(Che) Guevara is scheduled to head a brigade of 1,000 volunteer machete-wielders.

The broadcast, monitored in Miami, said labor unions in Camaguey are contributing 4,000 volunteers to cut and load sugar cane during the harvest now getting under way.

State Asks Space-Age Industry

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Arkansas Economic Expansion Study Commission voted Monday to ask the Area Redevelopment Administration for financial aid to study the potential of the state as a base for space-age industry.

Part of the federal grant would also be used for a survey of the state's manpower.

The commission, created by the 1963 legislature, is still seeking a base from which to launch its work. It asked Dr. Paul Brand of the University of Alabama, commission consultant to digest economic information about the state, to serve as a basis for the agency's program. The commission also voted to meet with the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission and the state Planning Commission to solidify cooperation toward a common goal.

Expansion Commission Chairman Jack Oakes named four subcommittees to begin studying specific economic areas of the state.

Oakes named W. S. Fox of Pine Bluff as chairman of a committee to inspect and catalogue Arkansas' resources. P. M. Dacus of West Memphis and Leory Beasley of El Dorado are committee members.

Dacus, Beasley, W. D. McKay of Magnolia and Frank Whitbeck of Little Rock were named to a committee headed by Ed Toomey of Forrest City which will look into areas ranging from education to unemployment.

McKay, Fox and Charles E. Sharlau of Fayetteville were named to a committee which will investigate government structure and taxation. Lincoln County Rep. G. D. Smith will head that committee.

Whitbeck, Smith, Toomey were named to a committee headed by Sharlau which will look into power and transportation.
